Death ended a quarrel in the New York City apartment of Louis Grondine, former Boston and Lowell male nurse, when pretty Elaine Rossi was hacked to death with a hatchet. Grondine, a war veteran, confessed, police say.

FINNISH PEACE DUE TODAY

Helsinki Still Denies Reds' Terms Accepted

COPENHAGEN, March 11—A peace agreement between Finland and Soviet Russia, putting an immediate stop to the bloody carnage raging since last November, is now but a matter of hours at most, according to reliable indications in Copenhagen today.

(Editor's note: This version of the situation was in conflict with a statement made by Finnish Foreign Minister V. A. Tanner in a telephone interview with Reuters' correspondent at Stockholm. Tanner said peace negotiations were still in progress and that Finland had not yet accepted Russia's terms.)

Moscow reports received in Copenhagen by way of Stockholm said final and presumably satisfactory terms had been drafted.

In addition, Helsinki dispatches said the Finnish parliament already was meeting in secret session to consider the proposals.

The Finnish delegation in Moscow itself is not empowered to sanction the agreement, the Finnish constitution necessitating parliamentary approval of all international undertakings.

ARMISTICE EXPECTED

But it was reported in Copenhagen that within a comparatively short time the peace terms would be made public, possibly accompanied by announcement of an armistice.

(An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Helsinki said the Finnish foreign policy committee had reported to Parliament, recommending acceptance of the Russian peace conditions. Belief that an armistice will be announced shortly caused a rise in stock prices on the Copenhagen exchange.)

So far as the actual terms were concerned, there were conflicting reports.

One said Russian demands for a naval base at Hango had been dropped in exchange for demilitarization of the entire Finnish south coast.

DENIES PARLEY ENDED

Another said the Soviet Union was willing to give up Petsamo, now occupied, provided there is a new demarcation of the Fisherman's peninsula adjoining. This arrangement would allow Finland to retain an outlet to the northern seas.

Previously the Copenhagen newspaper Aftonbladet had reported the Finnish delegation to Moscow was on its way back to Helsinki with the peace terms.

"Peace negotiations are still proceeding in Moscow," Tanner told Reuter's agency.

"Our delegates are still there.

"A rumor that Russia's terms

STOCKHOLM, March 11 (AP)—Odds in favor of Finnish-Russian peace were quoted in Stockholm as two to one today and a general feeling of optimism prevailed.

The stock exchange was stimulated strongly.

RUSSIA'S NEW DEMANDS

RUSSIA'S new demands for Finnish peace are reported much easier than those previously asked. Now the Soviet is reportedly willing to take only portion of Karelian Isthmus containing most of Mannerheim line, but not Viipuri, and islands in the Gulf of Finland. Hango, western port, would remain Finnish, as would Petsamo region in far north.

POPE, RIBBENTROP IN SECRET PARLEY

ROME, March 11 (AP)—Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop of Germany visited Pope Pius XII today after an audience with King Vittorio.

Further political conversations with Premier Mussolini were to follow later in a day of intense activity, which observers found to indicate two things:

1—Adolf Hitler is making a friendly gesture toward the Vatican.

2—He is seeking Italy's views on the possibility of an extension of the European war, either by the British-French Allies or Germany herself.

The German diplomat arrived at the Vatican city at 10:50 a. m. (4:45 a. m., E. S. T.), and a few

Hitler 'Blitzkrieg' On Britain Looms

AMSTERDAM, March 11 (INS)—While talk of possible peace filled the capitals of Europe, a new rumor reached Amsterdam today that before March has ended Germany will have launched full-scale aerial attacks on England designed to bring about the long-awaited showdown on the Western Front.

The rumor seemed to have British sources as its origin, which may be significant. The impression was that Britain is fully aware of all plans under consideration by the German high command and is prepared to meet them.

The aerial "blitzkrieg," according to this version of extended war, would be directed against all British seaports. Nazi planes, operating in from six to eight air fleets of 400 planes each on day and night shifts, would be sent on their missions of destruction against the harbors upon which Britain's existence depends.

In retaliation, British and French aerial fleets are said to be under standing instructions to start bombing the Ruhr, source of Germany's indispensable coal supplies, the moment England is attacked.

At the same time, it was reported 30 Finnish airplane pilots are now in London to fly 18 new British hurricane fighting planes to Helsinki as Britain's latest contribution to Finland's force.

More Tell Of Court Job Levies

Two girls and six men testified today they paid sums ranging from $50 to $300 to keep their jobs in the office of former Clerk of Suffolk Superior Civil Courts John Patrick Connolly.

Five of the men said they made their payments in monthly installments early in 1939 after being assessed "quotas" of $500 to $600 apiece for a "campaign fund."

The girls paid $200 and $300 respectively to Miss Marguerite W. "Peg" Kennedy in 1937, they testified.

Miss Kennedy has already told of being delegated as a "goodwill fund" collector by William T. Conway, alleged political associate and close friend of Connolly.

PATROLMAN IS WITNESS

Another principal witness today was a Boston police officer, Patrolman Edward J. Kegan of the South Boston station.

He testified he paid $250 to have his sister-in-law, Miss Mary Cunningham, of Brighton, reinstated after Connolly had fired her in spite of her 20 years service in the clerk's office.

Kegan was the first witness called as trial of Connolly and Conway for extortion and conspiracy went into its second week in Suffolk Superior Criminal Court before Judge George F. Leary and a locked-up jury.

TELL OF PAYMENTS

A subsequent witness, Thomas F. Brophy of Strathmore rd., Brighton, said he paid $250 in 1937 to keep his job in Connolly's office, but was fired in 1939 after complaints that he was frequently tardy and absent.

Brophy testified he gave his $250 to Conway in a men's washroom in the courthouse.

Patrolman Kegan said his sister-in-law came to him in February, 1937 and told him she had been fired from her job by Connolly.

Kegan went with her to the Parker House that night and talked there with Conway, the officer testified.

Q (By Asst. Dist. Atty. Frederick T. Doyle) — What was the conversation with Mr. Conway? A—I asked Mr. Conway if he could help my sister-in-law in re-

Boston Man Slays Girl With Hatchet

Walking up to a policeman in New York today, a former Boston and Lowell male nurse blurted into the astonished officer's ear a story of hacking a girl to death with a hatchet in his apartment. A few minutes later, the policeman found in the apartment of Louis Grondine, 46, the nude and battered body of Elaine Rossi, 23, described by Grondine as his "girl friend." She had been dead since early last night.

Grondine, 200-pound, moustached WPA hospital nurse in Manhattan, said to have completed his training at Massachusetts General Hospital 10 years ago, was arrested on a homicide charge.

LOSES HIS NERVE

According to police, Grondine said the attack occurred late yesterday when he and the girl quarreled over some pills they took to "pep us up." After making preparations to dispose of the body he lost his nerve, police said he told them.

Police said Grondine made a complete statement of the bizarre killing. Authorities quoted him as saying he removed the blood-stained clothing from the girl's body and the bed-clothing and washed them.

Then, police said, he drove to Poughkeepsie, N. Y., for a lodge meeting, but his conscience troubled him while he contemplated means of disposing of the body.

HIS "CONFESSION"

It was then, police said, that he met a policeman a block away from his apartment on Manhattan's upper west side and blurted out:

"I had a quarrel with my girl friend and hit her. I think she's dead. You'd better come and take a look at her."

The officer immediately summoned an ambulance and went to Grondine's apartment, where they found the battered body of the girl.

Grondine is known in Lowell, where he returned after fighting for Canada during the World War. His brother, George, and a nephew, Thomas, reside on Old Nashua rd., in nearby Dracut.

A sister, Mrs. Hannah Perreault, lives in Reed st., Lowell.

MARRIED LOWELL GIRL

Grondine was married a quarter century ago to the former Anna Pearson of Lowell, who died last fall. They had been either divorced or otherwise legally separated for years.

According to court records, Grondine, in 1922, was sentenced in

RUBY EATON BUTT
Freed From Reformatory

WOMAN PREACHER SPONSORS GUNGIRL

Her release from Sherborn Reformatory obtained by a woman minister, 26-year-old Ruby Eaton Butt, blonde gun girl and two-time jail break fugitive, was working in a Boston hospital today.

Long listed as an incorrigible in at least three penal institutions of the Commonwealth, young Mrs. Butt owes her chance for a new start in life to a prominent feminine preacher and social investigator who became interested in her case, Commissioner of Correction Arthur T. Lyman revealed.

CONCEALS IDENTITY

Upon the woman minister's offer to stand sponsor for her, the girl Sherborn inmate was "indentured" to the hospital.

This means she is still technically under sentence and can be returned to Sherborn at any time if she fails to abide by the terms of her tentative release.

Lyman refused to identify the hospital where Mrs. Butt is em-

8 Rescued on New Lowell Fire Ladder

LOWELL, March 11—Trapped by smoke on the fourth floor of the Omaha Packing Co. building in Market st., today, eight employes mainly girls, were rescued by firemen over Lowell's new aerial ladder.

Thirty-two other employes, most of them also girls, were led down smoke-filled stairways to safety. The fire was confined to the smokehouse on the street floor and officials said the damage was slight. Several workers on the first and second floors made their own way to safety.

MURDERED BY MOTHER

DOUBLE MURDER—Told she had only a month to live because of illness, Mrs. Adam Eaglevich, 42, of Broad Brook, Ct., killed her two daughters . . . (above) Doris May, 10, drowned in a bathtub, and (right) Anna, 23, slashed with a razor blade. The mother then killed herself. (Story on Page 6).

ANNA EAGLEVICH

Missing Girl Found Injured

Three weeks' search for 19-year-old Lillian Mahoney of Roxbury was dramatically ended today when police in a prowl car found her unconscious, bruised and bleeding in the middle of Mt. Auburn st., Cambridge.

After removal to Cambridge City Hospital she responded sufficiently to give her name but investigators are delaying further questioning until her condition improves.

Her elderly mother, Mrs. Richard Mahoney of Heath st., Roxbury, said the only knowledge she has had of her daughter during her absence was a local paper's report she would marry a Parker st. man on Easter Monday.

Mrs. Mahoney, who suffered a shock two years ago, said she would be unable to go to her daughter at the hospital but her father, a Boston paper concern employe, would visit her when he finished work today.

The manner in which the girl sustained her injuries is a complete mystery, according to police investigators, who said she might have been struck by a hit-run car or thrown from a moving auto.

Her mother when questioned about the girl's leaving home said:

"Lillian has given me a lot of trouble. She quit school when she was 16 and went out nights very frequently."

All that the police could learn of her recent actions was that she had obtained a ride to Cambridge from Roxbury and was trying to reach the home of a sister in Malden.

But she was so dazed by the shock of a severe blow on the head that questioning was deemed inadvisable.

Hospital authorities reported she had suffered a broken thigh, numerous body abrasions and possible internal injuries.

NOT GUILTY!—Dr. George K. Dazey, Santa Monica, Cal., physician, fervently kisses the hand of his present wife, Mrs. Dorcas Dazey, and thanks her for standing by him during his trial on a charge of murdering his second wife, Doris. A short time after this picture was taken the jury finished its deliberation and returned a verdict of "Not Guilty."

'Knocko' Hits Back At Critics of Parade

Edward J. "Knocko" McCormack, shaking out his three chins and becoming deadly serious, punched back today at "certain so-called leaders" who have criticized his March 17th plans and dared them to withdraw from Saturday's big turnout.

In a "fie, fie" statement, the hefty chief marshal of the Evacuation Day parade in South Boston asserted it was palpable that he had been only "kidding" in some instances to attract people to South Boston for the annual celebration.

But the joshing, particularly regarding his announced use of an ancient water wagon for the dispensing of free beer, brought announcement by some leaders of the Central Council of Irish County Ass'n that they were withdrawing from the parade on the ground that Knocko's program was not dignified.

"KNOCKO" McCORMACK

HITS BACK AT CRITICS

In the first place, said the rotund marshall, he hasn't fully decided about the beer waterwagon—"there's plenty of time between now and Friday"—and in any event the waterwagon would be used in the Horribles Parade on Friday night, anyway, and not the big parade on Saturday.

This is the first time in 20 years, said Knocko, that racial groups as such have been invited to participate in thebig parade, and the new order was his idea, with Polish, Lithuanian, Chinese and other groups accepting enthusiastically.

"I wonder," he said, "if the leaders of some other groups forget what day it is we celebrate.

"If so, let me remind them that it is the anniversary of the evacuation of Boston by the British troops, a patriotic American holiday.

ALL AMERICANS FIRST

"In my opinion citizens invited to parade in racial groups should have only one allegiance—America—and the withdrawal by leaders of any group which had accepted the parade invitation can and will be accepted publicly as a measure of the organization's patriotism and Americanism.

"There is no room in South Boston, or anywhere else in the United States, for people whose first love is some foreign nation—no matter what that nation may be."

He was not, said Knocko, directing his remarks to the rank and file of the organizations, but to those who have set themselves up as the organizations' leaders. He was thoughtful for a moment, then he said:

"I guess that's it, boys. A short cheer for the team."

Meanwhile, back at his desk the first day after his Florida vacation, and well tanned, Mayor Tobin had no comment to make on the controversy.

AT PRESS CLUB DINNER—Smiling cordially, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt chats with Mrs. Thomas E. Dewey, wife of the Republican presidential candidate, at the National Women's Press Club dinner in Washington. Wives of the possible standard bearers, either may be nation's First Lady after the next election.

F. R. Sure of 5 Today in N.H. Primary

CONCORD, N. H., March 11 — Even should all the opposition candidates win, it was a mathematical certainty today that President Roosevelt will capture five delegates pledged to his renomination for a third term in New Hampshire's primary election tomorrow, the first in the nation.

Of the 16 candidates for the eight delegates at large, 11 were pledged to Mr. Roosevelt, two for Postmaster General James A. Farley, one for Vice-President John N. Garner and two were unpledged, giving the President at least three delegates under any circumstances. In one of the state's two congressional districts, each of which elects two delegates to the convention, all three candidates for the two places were pledged to Mr. Roosevelt, giving him two more delegates.

New Hampshire law requires pledged delegates to support their candidates until released.

In the Republican primary the vote of J. Howard Gile, Nashua, pledged to Thomas E. Dewey, was watched as a possible indication of Dewey's strength. Dewey had asked Gileto withdraw in accordance with his policy of not opposing "favorite son" candidates such as Sen. H. Style Bridges of New Hampshire, but Gile continued in the race.

Buckner, Gillespie Lose in High Court

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP)—William P. Buckner, Jr., and William J. Gillespie, convicted in New York in a bond case featured by Buckner's friendship with Hollywood actresses and chorus girl parties, today lost an appeal to the Supreme Court for a writ of review.

Buckner, found guilty of using the mails to defraud, was sentenced to two years' imprisonment and fined $2500; Gillespie to 18 months' sentence and $2500 fine.

Miss Nichols Ready to Sue

Declaring Gov. Saltonstall and State Department heads have violated the civil service law by retention of provisional-permanent employes on State payrolls beyond the 180-day legal limit, Miss Marian C. Nichols of Mt. Vernon st., Beacon Hill, socialite civil service reformer, today informed the governor she would seek redress in court.

Dorchester Realty Man Shot, Dies

Only six days after he was saved from death by monoxide fumes beneath his car, William H. Dick, 57, a real estate agent, was found fatally shot today in his home, Pearl st., the Savin Hill section of Dorchester.

He was taken to City Hospital, where he died an hour after being admitted.

Dick was found in the basement by his wife, Mrs. Augusta Dick, who told police she had heard the shot, made by a .22-caliber revolver.

She called police, who rushed Dick to City Hospital with a bullet wound in the center of his forehead.

Mrs. Dick, who also told police her husband had been despondent for some time, found him last Tuesday beneath the family car in the garage.

She summoned Dr. Franklin Perkins of Dorchester ave., who called aid from the fire department.

A crew from Ladder 7, Meeting House Hill, under Dist. Chief Edward N. Montgomery and Lieut. Frank D. McMackin, worked over the realtor with inhalators and restored him to consciousness after half an hour.

At that time it was reported that Dick had been making repairs to the automobile when overcome by carbon monoxide fumes.

Double Murder Laid To 'Death Warrant'

BROAD BROOK, Ct., March 11—Knowledge that she had only about a month to live was blamed by authorities today for the murder of two sisters by their brooding mother, who then took her own life.

The mother, Mrs. Adam Eaglevich, 42, told by a doctor that she had no chance to survive an illness, used a bathtub, razor blade and knife in the double murder and suicide.

The other victims were her daughters, Doris May, 10 drowned in the bathtub, and Anna, 23 slashed with a razor blade and the knife.

The older daughter was an outstanding beauty of the town, being voted the prettiest girl in the 1936 class of Rockville High School.

The tragedy was discovered by the woman's husband, who returned from mass to find his daughters dead and his wife on her knees praying, her ow. throat cut.

Taken to Rockville City Hospital, she died 12 hours later despite a blood transfusion which was attempted to save her.

A verdict of suicide and murder was given by State Police Commissioner Edward J. Hickey.

Eaglevich told authorities his wife had suffered a nervous disorder two years ago but had recovered until about two weeks ago. He said she had again visited a physician to be told she had only a month to live.

Neighbors informed authorities the mother had decried her eldest daughter, employed in nearby Hartford, going to dances, although it could not be determined whether or not the mother had brooded over the matter.

Wakeful Children Save Family in Fire

TIVERTON, R. I., March 11—The sleeplessness of two youngsters today was credited with saving the lives of members of the family of David Hay Atwater, coal and shipping magnate, whose home here on Nanaquaket rd., was destroyed with $60,000 loss.

Two of the owner's children, Sally Anne, 11, and Nathaniel, 4, had awakened shortly after dawn and were sitting in bed when they heard the crackle of flames and smelled smoke. With the timely warning, the parents and servants saved the other children, Damaris, 18; Eleanor, 12, and David, Jr., 9.

G-MEN HUNT RARE STOLEN BOOK

WILLIAMSTOWN, March 11—Uncle Sam's famed G-men today turned toward literary pursuits.

Baffled by the recent theft of a rare volume of Shakespeare's plays valued at $30,000, Williams College authorities announced that federal agents were pressing the hunt.

The $30,000 book is a first folio of 36 of Shakespeare's plays, printed in 1623 in London. It was stolen from Chapin Library by a man who won permission to visit the library through a forged letter

SO. SHORE RAIL STAY DENIED

The Old Colony Commuters and Shippers' League motion for a six months' postponement of Interstate Commerce Commission action on partial abandonment of the railroad was denied today by Director Oliver E. Sweet of the commission's bureau of finance at a hearing in Hotel Lenox.

Sweet's ruling was made as he prepared to hear arguments of Old Colony trustees on their proposal to drop service on the so-called Boston group lines.

His overruling of the league's motion was without prejudice and it may be renewed at any time.

Postponement of abandonment plans, it was argued by the league, would permit a study of curtailed service results which have been approved by the State Public Utilities Commission to go into effect March 31.

Boston group lines affected are Braintree from Boston, from Braintree to Greenbush, Plymouth and Middleboro.

Counsel for the trustees explained discontinuance would net an estimated saving of $1,700,000 yearly and it was hoped this would make it possible to retain service on the rest of the system.

Charles B. Rugg, Old Colony counsel said the New Haven would be obliged to accept a $10,000,000 operating loss and that despite recently effected savings there was still an annual deficit of $1,000,000.

Meanwhile Atty.-Gen. Dever indicated he would ask the I. C. C. to postpone its decision until the results of economies now in effect are ascertained.

Called "Shorty" He Wins Cash

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP)—Little men who resent being called "shorty" found a friend today in the United States court of appeals for the District of Columbia.

The court ruled that Ray Bridges, helper employed at a produce warehouse of the Sanitary Grocery Co., was entitled to compensation for injuries he said he suffered at the hands of a supervisor. The supervisor started it, the court decided, by calling Bridges "Shorty."

JAIL INDIA UNIONISTS

BOMBAY, March 11 (AP)—Three labor leaders, prominently associated with the Girni Kamgar (red flag) union's textile strike in the Bombay area, were arrested today under the wartime defense of India act. They were charged with conducting anti-war propaganda.

Throng to See Archbishop Spellman Receive Pallium

By JACK CONWAY

NEW YORK, March 11—With Dennis Cardinal Dougherty, Archbishop of Philadelphia, officiating, Archbishop Francis J. Spellman of New York will receive the sacred pallium conferred by Pope Pius XII at services at St. Patrick's Cathedral tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

William Cardinal O'Connell of Boston had accepted an invitation from Archbishop Spellman to preside at the mass that will be celebrated by Rev. Stephen J. Donahue, Auxiliary Bishop of New York. A bronchial cold made it necessary for Cardinal O'Connell to remain in Miami under the care of his doctor.

Cardinal O'Dougherty was then asked to take Cardinal O'Connell's place at the services.

The pallium, made of lamb's wool, is the symbol of Archbishop Spellman's authority as Archbishop of New York.

Tomorrow is the feast day of Gregory the Great, and the mass will be for that day.

St. Patrick's church will be filled to capacity for the services which will be attended by churchmen and civic and business leaders from all parts of the United States.

The requests for reserved seats has been greater even than it was at the time when Archbishop Spellman was installed as Archbishop of the See of New York last May.

INTERESTED IN HUB

Archbishop Spellman will deliver a prepared address at the services.

This writer talked with Archbishop Spellman on Saturday morning, and found the archbishop in excellent health and spirits. He has a keen interest in Boston and in his many friends in that city.

Archbishop Spellman expressed regret that illness prevented Cardinal O'Connell, to whom he was auxiliary bishop when in Boston, from presiding tomorrow.

Archbishop Spellman will wear the same robes he did on the day of his consecration as a bishop in St. Peter's, Rome, on Sept. 8, 1932.

Pope Pius XII, who consecrated the bishop, had himself been consecrated a bishop in the same vestments by Pope Benedict XV.

When in the United States a few years ago as Secretary of State of the Vatican, Pope Pius XII wore these vestments.

Archbishop Spellman intends to give the vestments to Fordham University as a remembrance of the visit there by Pope Pius XII.

The pallium is composed of a circular band about two inches wide of lamb's wool and is worn around the neck. It has two pendants, one hanging down in front and one behind. These are two inches wide and 12 inches long, and are weighted with small pieces of lead covered with black silk.

RITES FOLLOW MASS

The pallium will be given to Archbishop Spellman by Cardinal Dougherty at the conclusion of the pontifical mass. During the mass the pallium will rest on a table near the altar, while near the end of the mass the pallium will be placed on the center of the altar before the tabernacle.

During the mass special prayers will be offered for peace and for Pope Pius XII.

The Holy Father has been a leader in an effort to restore world peace.

President Roosevelt has joined the Pope in a world peace movement. This is why Myron C. Taylor was sent to the Vatican as a representative of the United States.

Slain Wife's Rites In Weston Today

Less than two years after she departed happily for a Honolulu marriage that ended in tragedy, Mrs. Richard C. Burleson, 55-year-old society matron, was back in Weston today, in death.

While friends gathered for 2:30 p. m. funeral services at the Unitarian Church in Weston, counsel for the 51-year-old socialite who shot and killed Mrs. Burleson at Columbia, S. C., indicated his client would plead insanity.

Grief-stricken, Col. Richard C. Burleson of the United States army, formerly stationed in Boston, also returned to the town where he first met the widow of Frank W. Knowlton, St., eminent trial lawyer.

It was to Weston that Knowlton, then a young man, settled down with the former Isabelle Riese after their marriage and reared three sons, Frank Jr., now a Boston banker; Cadet William A. of West Point and Robert A. Knowlton, a Washington newspaperman.

Six years after Knowlton's death, the widow married Col. Burleson at Honolulu, following Burleson's lengthy, successful fight to divorce the one-time Galveston beauty whom he had married 28 years before.

The first Mrs. Burleson, jailed at Columbia, was quoted as saying that her "mind went blank" when the sceond Mrs. Burleson passed by her in the lobby of the fashionable Jefferson Hotel there.

"... The vision of my mother came before me and with it the thoughts of my wrecked home, and my mind went blank," Columbia's Police Chief W. H. Rawlinson quoted her.

The tall, matronly Texas woman denied, however, that she had shot Mrs. Burleson in the back, as an autopsy indicated to the coroner.

Later, however, she conferred with her attorney, Claude N. Sapp, of Columbia, and Sapp said she told him she had no clear picture of what happened.

TULIPS IN BLOOM—Massachusetts Horticultural Society brings spring to Mechanics Building and Beatrice Clark of Quincy admires a bed of tulips on exhibition at the Flower Show opening today.

HAMBURG-FED PLANT TOPS FLOWER SHOW

More than 1000 priceless orchids and a plant which eats hamburg are included in scenes of unsurpassed beauty which unfolded for flower lovers today on the opening of the New England Flower Show in Mechanics building.

Something new in plants has been gathered from far-off lands this year in the death-dealing specie which ensnares and devours insects.

The hamburg eating variety is the Tonis plant, which, according to those that grow them, flourishes best when fed a piece of hamburg each week.

There are more than 170 displays in the annual show, including huge scenes depicting rolling country side in western Massachusetts, a gently-turning mill and man-made stream, as well as unbelievably beautiful gardens.

Governor and Mrs. Saltonstall, with members of their family, are scheduled to be present this afternoon, the Governor's mother, Mrs. Richard M. Saltonstall, being an exhibitor.

Gov. George D. Aiken of Vermont, one of the leading horticulturists of the country, will also attend, and was scheduled to go on the air over WEZ to tell his impressions of the show.

Flowers valued at millions of dollars, some of them having come by plane from California and Florida, will be on display, and, according to Manager Arno H. Nehrling, they comprise the most precious as well as the largest assemblage of blossoms ever seen in New England.

Sponsored by the Massachusetts Horticultural Society, the show will continue through Saturday night, the exhibition being open from 9 a. m. to 10 p. m.

Film Writer's Wife Plunges 3 Stories

HOLLYWOOD, March 11 (INS)—Climaxing a domestic quarrel, Mrs. Mushel Ruric, bride of a prominent movie scenario writer, was injured probably fatally when she plunged from a window of their third-floor apartment early today while clad only in a nightgown.

Investigating officers said before she lost consciousness she gasped out meager details of an argument with her husband, Peter Ruric, whom she married six months ago. Surgeons said she suffered a broken back.

3 Fail to Steal New Irish 'Navy'

DUBLIN, March 11 (INS)—Three men in a rowboat and armed only with revolvers, made an unsuccessful attempt to steal the first unit of Eire's navy, the new motor torpedo boat M-1.

The M-1 was moored at Dunmoghaire. Before dawn the rowboat slipped up alongside and three armed men, presumably members of the outlawed Irish Republican Army, crept aboard. They hurled the lone guard from the deck into the water, but he managed to fire several shots which aroused the crew below deck and police ashore.

Youth Congress 'Red,' B. C. Students Reveal

The American Youth Congress today wore "a Communist label"—pinned on by Boston College Business School students who for a month have been investigating the organization.

The B. C. students made their report to 200 members of the New England Intercollegiate Union of Catholic Action, declaring the Congress is definitely Communistic and not representative of American youth.

The Union, representing 24 College units, which met for luncheon at Boston College, was told by Savino Loscucco of Quincy, one of the investigators:

"It is up to such groups as ours to preserve a real democracy and not one such as the American Youth Congress envisions."

Charles H. Savage, Jr., of Boston, asserted that the AYC is "Communistically inclined." Tracing the history of the Congress, Savage asserted it had its beginning when a leftist group broke away from a conference called by the Central Bureau of American Youth in 1934.

Addressing the Union in dialogue form, Richard E. Grainger, of Roslindale, Francis J. Dever, of Dorchester and William P. Doonan, of Lynn, charged that leaders of the American Youth Congress received direct orders from Moscow and that Gilbert Greenburg, long active in youth movements, was made president of the Third Communist International for making the AYC into "a broad united front."

In connection with their contention that the American Youth Congress is not representative of American Youth, the speakers pointed out that there are 2,000,000 young Catholics, as well as the Boy Scouts in this country, who are not connected with the organization.

No More Parades!

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

The way we figure the Hatch law is that all eggs are innocent before the recount.

Section 9 reads: "No employe of the federal government shall take an active part in a political campaign."

The Hatch law means that the rooster can't crow, the hen can't cackle and the third ward incubator cannot hold open house on election night.

P. S.—It means the end of parades the obliteration of high silk hats and the finish of the crusade to improve the breed of white horses.

Hub Male Nurse Kills N. Y. Girl

Lowell to serve three months in jail for an automobile violation, and his son, George, was sentenced in 1934 to serve five years in Concord reformatory.

Police Capt. James J. Kennedy of Lowell said Grondine had paid a $50 fine in superior court in 1927 on a charge of threatening bodily harm.

The alleged slayer's brothers, George and Thomas, said today that they had not heard directly from him since he completed his training at Massachusetts General Hospital in 1930 and went to New York.

SAYS GIRL USED KNIFE

Police said Grondine told them he met the girl about 2:30 a. m. Sunday by appointment. They had supper in his apartment and drank liquor until about 6 o'clock when they quarreled, according to his story.

He had been in the habit of taking the "pep" pills from the Harlem hospital where he was employed. The girl took three of them, and when he cautioned her, she lashed out at him with a knife, he told police.

Grondine then picked up a hatchet which he kept handy for chopping kindling wood and defended himself, according to his alleged admission.

'POUND A DAY' DIET

There's a tinge of spring in the air, summer is not far off—and already, thousands of overweight men and women are shaking in their boots with bathing-suit phobia!

Street clothes shroud and confine unlovely curves—but at the seashore, every extra pound is obvious.

Thousands of overweight people have developed a sudden and sincere interest in dieting, and have turned to the scientific Pound-a-Day diet, that takes advantage of the very latest advances in the science of nourishment.

It is the work of a prominent dietetic specialist, a New York doctor. And it's an exclusive feature of the Boston Evening American-Sunday Advertiser.

The first day of the diet was printed in the Sunday Advertiser yesterday.

If you, too, are faced by bathing suit phobia and the other problems of overweight, why not BEGIN TODAY, and continue the diet day-by-day in the Evening American and Sunday Advertiser?

FOR OVERWEIGHT ONLY

Perhaps the diet will be as effective in slimming your figure as it has been in cutting down the weight of others. The prescribing doctor, who must for ethical reasons remain anonymous, adds this word of warning, however:

The diet is only for overweight people. It is not designed to benefit those who weigh approximately what they should.

But for those troubled with rubber tires around their middles, with bay windows in front, or with hippo hips in back, this diet has in the past proved largely successful.

Overweight persons following the diet to the exact letter have been able to drop a pound a day of fat during the first week, and an average of half a pound a day the second week.

This has been accomplished without the feeling of tiredness or lassitude that often goes with dieting. This food list is scientifically planned to feed muscle and gland and organic tissue, without nourishing fat cells.

PEPS UP SYSTEM

Hence the effect is rather to pep up the system, rather than debilitate it, while the pounds are vanishing.

This effect is planned by the doctor-author with all the precision of a mathematical equation.

In the past, men knew little of the effect of food on their physiques. But today, nutrition has developed into so exact a science that dietetic experts are among the most highly paid specialists in all centers of wealth.

Have not YOU wondered at the miraculous way in which stars figures are improved by diet in Hollywood?

Dieting has come to have all the exactitude of a chemical reaction. By including certain amounts of proteins, carbohydrates, minerals, vitamins and the other food elements, doctors can now not only drop pounds from the overweight figure, but drop them from certain spots. They can in many cases bring a reduction of fatty cells on hips, abdomen, and legs.

FOLLOW EXACTLY

The diet must, of course be followed to the letter; in the exact way prescribed by the physician.

Eat and drink ONLY what is on the diet. Make no substitutions.

All milk must be skimmed, removing the top four ounces from a quart bottle.

No butter or sugar at the table, or in the preparation of food.

You MUST NOT drink alcoholic beverages while on the diet.

Fruits must be fresh, except where otherwise indicated.

Regular coffee not permitted. Use Sanka with skimmed milk.

Before breakfast, on three days a week, a teaspoonful of bicarbonate of soda with two glasses of water.

Mayonnaise must include one half teaspoon of salt, four tablespoons of mineral oil, two tablespoons of vinegar, one-eighth teaspoon of paprika and one-eighth teaspoon of pepper. If eating in a restaurant, plain vinegar or the juice of one lemon will do.

Those are the conditions. The rest is up to you.

Happy dieting!

Parents See Youth Held In Car Death

While the mother and father of one boy looked on, two Roxbury youths were held today in $1000 each by Judge Riley in municipal court on a charge of manslaughter.

William F. Allen, 18, of Leyland st., and his uncle, James Allen 20, of Dennis st., pleaded not guilty to the hit-run death of Mrs. Hannah Goodman, 75, of Harrison ave last night.

William's parents were in court.

Mrs. Goodman, accompanied by her granddaughter, Charlotte Cohen, 12, also of Harrison ave., was crossing the avenue on her return from a theater when the accident occurred.

She died 10 minutes after removal to City Hospital.

A witness gave police a car number.

The youths were represented in court by Atty. George Leary and their case was continued until Friday on request of Special Officer Joseph Gaffey.

'Sallies' Fete Their 60 Years

Climax of the 60th year of the Salvation Army in the United States will be celebrated tonight at Palace Auditorium, Washington and East Brookline sts., Boston.

Col. Fletcher Agnew, second in command of the "Sallies" here in New England, will be the principal speaker. Throughout the week end various Salvation Army corps conducted appropriate services and "birthday parties" in Massachusetts.

Gov. Saltonstall was among those offering felicitations to the Salvation Army on the three-score anniversary.

"Boston After Dark," by George Holland, appears every day in the Boston American.

Bride, 18, Happy With Hubby, 67

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Cal., March 11 (INS)—"We're very, very happy," chorused James Shelton, 67, and his bride of a day, the former Delta Palmer, 18, today.

Climaxing a whirlwind romance which began when the girl's family became Shelton's neighbors four months ago, Shelton and the girl were married by a justice of the peace. The bride's family attended the ceremony.

Shelton, a carpenter, said it was his second marriage. In 1924, he reported, he wed a 14-year-old girl in Oklahoma and went to Europe on a honeymoon. His first wife died in 1932.

tain her job. He said he'd see what he could do.

Q—When did you see Mr. Conway next? A—I met him on School st. a couple of days later.

Q—What was the conversation? A—I asked Mr. Conway if everything was all right. He said yes. He said, "It will cost $250."

Q—What did you say? A—I said "I'll go see my sister-in-law."

Q—Did you meet Mr. Conway a third time? A—Yes, in School st., two or three days after.

Q—After the second conversation with Mr. Conway did you confer with your sister and receive $250? A—Yes.

Q—What happened at the third meeting with Mr. Conway? A—I had the $250 with me. I said, "Here's the $250 you asked for." He accepted it.

SAYS HE KNEW CONWAY

Cross-examined by Atty. Herbert F. Callahan, counsel for Conway, Patrolman Kegan said his sister-in-law asked him if he knew a man named Conway and he told her yes, he had known Conway 15 to 17 years.

Q—Was your sister-in-law in tears at the Parker House? A—I don't remember. She had been in tears before.

Q—You said you wanted to show your appreciation, didn't you? A—No. Conway said it would cost $250.

Q—Was there any talk of a contribution to the campaign? A—There was not.

Q—You denied any knowledge of this $250 transaction the first time you talked with Dist. Atty. Foley didn't you? A—Yes.

Q—Whom did you talk with in authority after you denied the transaction? A—They brought me before the grand jury.

Q—Didn't you change your story before that? A—Yes, to Mr. Doyle and Mr. Foley. My sister-in-law came out in tears. She said to me, "You know the truth about this, why not come out with it."

Q—How long have you been a police officer? A.—Twenty years.

Q.—You didn't think there was anything wrong in giving Mr. Conway money? A.—I did not.

Q.—You felt you were making a campaign contribution, didn't you? A.—I did not.

The witness, Brophy, was called to the stand after Patrolman Kegan had concluded his testimony.

HELD JOB 10 YEARS

Brophy said he had been employed ten years in the Suffolk court clerk's office in 1937. He said he had a conversation with Conway about Feb. 1, 1937.

Q—(By Asst. Dist. Atty. Doyle) What was said? A—Mr. Conway said he'd like to see me outside in the corridor. I went out and saw him. He said, "It's going to cost you $250 to hold your job in there." He said, "I don't think that's unreasonable to pay during six years to hold your job." I said "How long will you give me to get it?" He said, "How long will it take you?" I said, "Give me a couple of days."

Q—Did you get the $250? A—Yes, I borrowed it.

Q—When did you see Conway again? A—He approached me at the office. He said, "Tom, have you got it?" I said, "Yes." He said, "Well, I'll see you downstairs."

Q—What happened then. A

ANN LEONARD
Her Testimony Heard

—I met him in the washroom and handed him the $250. He said, "You'll be all right now.'

A sharp clash between Asst. Dist. Atty. Doyle and Defense Counsel Abner R. Sisson occurred just before recess time, after Miss Ann Leonard of Westmoreland st., Dorchester had testified she was fired by Connolly after 18 years of service in the clerk's office.

As she left the witness stand, Atty. Sisson remarked, "More grand stand play!"

Doyle jumped to his feet and demanded the remark be stricken from the record. Judge Leary did this directing counsel to confine further remarks to the case at hand.

Under cross-examination by Atty. Abner R. Sisson, counsel for Connolly, Brophy testified he went to see Connolly at the Parker House after Connolly's nomination—which was tantamount to election—and Connolly told him, "Tom, you're all right with me."

Q (By Sisson)—After the transaction with Mr. Conway, the $250 transaction, you got fired by Mr. Connolly didn't you? A—Yes.

Q—Mr. Connolly was the only man you knew who could hire and fire? A—Yes.

HIRED BACK ON JOB

Q—Although you say Mr. Conway assured you you were all right, you were fired by Mr. Connolly? A—Yes, sir.

Under further questioning, Brophy testified his dismissal was in 1939, after First Asst. Clerk John McCubbin had told him several times that Connolly had complained because he. Brophy, was repeatedly late to work and because he had been absent more than 70 working days.

Q—What was the reason for your tardiness and absences? A—My health was poor at that time. I was frequently sick.

Q—Were you later reinstated on your job after being fired? A—Yes; by present Clerk of Courts James F. McDermott.

"SPEED for bob-sledding thrills! S-L-O-W BURNING for smoking thrills!"

says champion "Bucky" Wells

THEY'RE OFF—on the mile-long Mt. Van Hoevenberg run at Lake Placid, N. Y. with "Bucky" Wells driving. Fifteen breath-taking turns to go. Fifteen chances to taste the supreme thrills of speed. But in smoking it's different. "It's slow burning that makes a cigarette tick with me," "Bucky" Wells says. He's smoked slow-burning Camels for ten years.

"ONE-TWO-BOB! ONE-TWO-BOB!" As the crew bobs, "Bucky" picks up speed...60—70—80 miles an hour, driving high on the wall of ice as he swings the quarter-ton sled around the curve. But in cigarettes, this daring speedster gives the laurels to slow-burning Camels. You can tell by their mild, mellow taste that Camels burn cooler, slower—and scientists have confirmed this: Camels burned slowest of all in recent tests. (See panel below.)

IF you want to know how it feels to go 80 miles an hour on a racing bob-sled, "Bucky" Wells of Keene Valley, N. Y. can tell you. But when it comes to cigarettes, "Bucky" is on the slow side...the slow-burning side. If you know your cigarettes, that means Camels!

"I know that Camels burn slower," "Bucky" says. "There's cool comfort in a slow-burning Camel. Mildness—more flavor. Every puff is a fresh treat to the taste, and—get this—there are many more puffs to enjoy in a Camel. Slow burning means extra smoking. 'I'd walk a mile for a....'"

Even if a gust of wind did carry away "Bucky's" last word, not many people would fail to realize it was C-A-M-E-L. Camels are made from costlier tobaccos—drawn from the greatest treasure of mellowed tobaccos ever brought together in one place in the whole world.

Allies Pledge Aid 'If Finns Ask it'

By ROBERT G. NIXON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, March 11—Great Britain and France stand ready to help Finland "with all available resources at their disposal" if a new appeal for aid is received, Prime Minister Chamberlain told Commons today.

The British and French governments have so informed Helsinki, he said. He made clear, however, that such augmented aid was contingent upon receipt of an appeal from Finland. No such appeal has been received.

Chamberlain's statement was made soon after the British government revealed officially that it refused last month to transmit Russian peace proposals to Finland on the ground that Moscow's terms were too severe.

WAR WITH RUSSIA?

Any aid sent to Finland, Chamberlain said, would be in accordance with Britain's obligations under the League of Nations covenant, which provides that any appeal from a signatory power made the victim of an aggressor should evoke immediate aid from other signatories.

"Isn't this tantamount to us going to war against Russia?" David Kirkwood, Laborite, asked.

"We have not arrived at that yet," Chamberlain replied.

Chamberlain refused to answer questions as to whether Britain is prepared to send troops to Finland or whether it is ready to violate the neutrality of Norway and Sweden to make its aid effective.

The announcement disclosing Britain's refusal to act as Russo-Finnish intermediary said that Moscow on Feb. 12 asked Britain to transmit peace terms.

EXPLAINS REFUSAL

The request was rejected "since the terms appeared to leave Finland in a hopeless plight."

An official statement said that Soviet Ambassador Ivan Maisky asked Parliamentary Under-Secretary Richard Butler to transmit peace terms to Helsinki.

The statement added:

"These terms appeared to His Majesty's government to be of such onerous nature that they would leave Finland in a hopeless plight.

"Under these circumstances His Majesty's government refused to act as intermediary.

"His Majesty's government notified the Finnish government that such an approach had been made but did not reveal the terms except to say that it felt they were too onerous."

It was learned authoritatively that at the same time Mme. Alexandra Kollontay, Soviet envoy to Sweden and Russia's famous sharp-shooting woman diplomat, made a similar approach to the Stockholm government.

A British government spokesman said:

"Sweden, unlike ourselves, passed on the Russian terms to Finland.

"Apparently the Swedes have not the same scruples as ourselves about putting forward such terms."

Chinese and Japs Both Claim Victory

HONG KONG, March 11 (AP)—Japanese forces north of Swatow, on the south China coast, reported today they had killed more than 3500 Chinese, and captured 30 machineguns and other matrial.

The Chinese version of the fighting said that heavily reinforced Japanese troops were repulsed in an attempt to recapture Teng-Hai, 12 miles northeast of Swatow.

Finn-Red Peace Near; Russians Ease Demands

have already been accepted is untrue."

Best information in Stockholm, however, indicated that announcement of some sort of peace settlement could be expected within the next 24 hours.

The Stockholm correspondent of the London Evening Standard, who also talked with Tanner on the telephone, quoted him as saying:

"It's a lie to say that peace has been signed, or a lie to say that there is any question of such a peace (ignoring Finland's requirements) being signed."

Slight modification of Russia's latest demands, however, was believed to have raised hopes of an eventual settlement.

A Swedish telegraph agency dispatch from Helsinki said:

"The foreign affairs committee of the Finnish parliament has reportedly recognized the Russian peace conditions, but no official confirmation is available."

The report was withdrawn almost immediately, apparently at the request of the Finnish legation, which said it could be denied.

The issuance and withdrawal of the dispatch created a stir of excitement despite the Stockholm evening newspapers' compliance with the request.

The belief was emphasized in informed quarters that the whole question of peace or continued war now has reached a point of final decision and that an announcement can be expected at any time.

Possibility that Germany and Italy might guarantee a Russian-Finnish peace was reported, meanwhile, in the Scandinavian press.

NO SCANDINAVIAN UNION

Finland's negotiators were generally assumed to have asked guarantees and it was expected the Finnish public, fearful of a "Finnish Munich," would insist on assurances against renewed Soviet attack if the present hostilities are ended.

Reports of a possible Finnish-Swedish-Norwegian defense union, however, were regarded skeptically in informed quarters.

Persistent reports said Russia was asking for guarantees from Finland and Sweden against any attacks through their territory. The question was raised whether a pledge must be given that Swedish neutrality would be defended against any and all violations.

Some observers said the primary guarantee Finland would want with a peace settlement would be a demilitarized zone along the revised frontier with full opportunity to reconstruct her defenses.

These are the terms informed sources say Russia has offered:

I—A new Karelian isthmus border, leaving Viipuri on the Finnish side but placing a large part of the Mannerheim line in Russian territory.

2—Retention by Russia of islands in the Gulf of Finland but with Hanko, port on the southwestern tip of Finland, and the far Northern Petsamo area remaining in Finland.

German-Italian guarantees, the reports said, would be in addition to any safeguards to Finnish security contained in a peace agreement.

SWEDISH "GUARANTEE"

Swedish public opinion against any new attack on Finland in the event of a settlement, it was held, amounts to a tacit guarantee of Swedish assistance should occasion arise again.

There was growing indication of anger in Sweden and Norway, meanwhile, over the attitude of the western powers toward the role of Scandinavia in the Finnish situation.

NAZIS GET SLICE?

The newspaper Aftonbladet published an unconfirmed report Foreign Minister Christian E. Gunther of Sweden was en route to Berlin.

This revived rumors that the German-Russian partners were seeking greater influence in Scandinavia in return for a Finnish settlement, and it also bolstered the report Germany wanted guarantees.

The usually well-informed Stockholm Socialist newspaper Folkets Dagblad said editorially the main point of the Moscow talks dealt with "widening of the Soviet-German pact to include Finland in the direct zone of German-Soviet interests."

According to this theory, any concessions made for peace would be on the understanding that Finland must, at least, in no way hamper the German-Russian program.

Moscow Is Silent On Terms to Finns

MOSCOW, March 11 (AP)—Press attacks on the Helsinki government as a "bloody band of British-French servants," accompanied the Russian high command report today on progress of flanking attacks on both ends of the Mannerheim line.

A Moscow radio broadcast picked up in London claimed:

"The war bloc and the English-French imperialists have for 20 years attempted to draw the Soviet Union into a war, but their attempts will be foiled."

Russian censorship barred any discussion of the Finnish-Russian peace negotiations in Moscow. The report that the Finnish delegation already had left with a peace plan for submission to its government was not confirmed from the Russian capital.

The Red army communique reported capture of the islands of Vupratsu, in Lake Ladoga, west of Pitkaranta, and Varjesaari, in Viipuri bay.

Previous communiques have reported progress in occupation of islands and shoreline points west and southwest of Viipuri, which for days has been the western strong point of the rectified Mannerheim line.

Nazis Seen Marking Time

BERLIN, March 11 (AP)—The prevailing impression in Berlin today was that Germany would mark time on any move of her own in connection with the Finnish-Russian peace talks pending definite word on Moscow negotiations.

Uncertainty and silence characterized the Berlin visit of Per Evind Svinhufvud, former president of Finland. He was reported to have had several "private" conversations with Germans but with no top rank officials.

In Finnish quarters it was said he likely would go on to Rome for talks with Premier Mussolini.

Adolf Hitler's "on-to-victory" speech yesterday in observance of Germany's Memorial Day contained no reference to the Finnish-Russian situation. It was rather a proclamation of undying struggle against Germany's enemies—"Imperialist England and France."

"The world desires our dissolution," the Fuehrer told 600 invited guests in the courtyard of the Zeughaus—military museum—whose walls were lined with tanks and guns and other trophies of the Polish campaign.

"Our only reply can be the greatest pledge of all times: On to victory!"

India's Princes Loyal to Britain

NEW DELHI, March 11 (INS)—A general conference of Indian princes and ministers today approved the draft of a resolution welcoming the attainment of dominion status for India, but pledging loyalty to Britain and support in the war against Germany.

Deliberations of the conference were being closely scrutinized by leaders of the Indian National Congress, including Mohandas K. Gandhi, who has led India's movement for freedom as the country's price for supporting the British against the Nazi Reich.

In declaring itself in favor of dominion status for India, the resolution urged the need of safeguards to preserve the sovereignty and autonomy of the Indian states ruled largely by princes. The congress is opposed to the existence of such states in a free India.

If Your Ankles Swell You Can't Feel Well

Do your ankles swell or are you tired and worn out a lot of the time with dark circles under your eyes? If so, the cause may be functional rather than organic or systemic Kidney trouble. The Kidneys work night and day cleaning and filtering excess acids, poisons and wastes from your blood. Because they never get a real rest it's easy to see that as you grow older the Kidneys may get tired functionally, and slow down. Then excess acids and wastes may accumulate and poison your system. So if your ankles swell or you have to get up nights or suffer burning, scanty or frequent passages, backaches or nervousness, due to non-organic or non-systemic Kidney or Bladder troubles, you'll make no mistake in trying the prescription called Cystex, because it has been so successful in so high a percentage of such cases. Cystex is sold under a positive guarantee of money back on return of empty package unless completely satisfactory to you. Cystex now costs only 35c at druggists and the guarantee protects you.

BRITONS RECEIVE WELLES

LONDON, Marsh 11 (AP)—In an atmosphere that was friendly but unmistakably skeptical, Sumner Welles today explored Great Britain's official attitude on war and peace aims in talks with national leaders.

The United States under-Secretary of State disclosed that the memorandum made public in Paris outlining American desires for free world trade and a riddance of fear in the peace to come after the European war, had been given to other governments he had visited.

REFUSES ANY COMMENT

Welles reiterated that he had brought no proposals of any kind to Europe and, refusing to express views on anything—even the appearance of London—he repeated that his report was for President Roosevelt only

Welles and United States Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy were received by Foreign Minister Viscount Halifax at the foreign office. They conferred for 45 minutes, after which they were received by King George VI at Buckingham Palace.

After being received by the King, Welles and the monarch joined Queen Elizabeth for tea.

Discussing the possible results of the conferences, the London Press was polite but frank. Their comment was summed up by the Daily Mail:

"The visibility was decidedly poor and glimpses even of the immediate future are apt to be misleading."

DINNER TONIGHT

Tonight, Lord Halifax will entertain the American undersecretary of state at dinner. Tomorrow, he will lunch with Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer, and dine with Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty. Wednesday, Chamberlain will entertain Welles at dinner.

Each occasion will be restricted to a small group of "representative Englishmen" to avoid any confusion in making clear the British position on war and peace.

From the moment the French government plane touched the ground, Scotland Yard's top flight detectives guarded every step Welles made and their vigil will not be relaxed until he leaves for Washington—by way of Rome and another interview with Premier Mussolini—on Thursday.

The motorcycle escort from the airport to the Dorchester hotel was unusual for Britain and was referred to as "American style."

Italo-British Coal Crisis Ends

LONDON, March 11 INS)—Formal announcement that the Anglo-Italian coal controversy had been settled was made in Commons by Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain today.

The 13 Italian ships released with their German coal cargoes on Saturday after detention by British authorities were originally instructed to sail from Rotterdam "owing to a misunderstanding," the prime minister said.

Pope, Von Ribbentrop Hold Secret Parley

minutes later he was ushered into the presence of the Pontiff for a private audience.

The audience lasted for 65 minutes, and Von Ribbentrop emerged from the conference smiling broadly.

The significance of the unheralded visit to King Vittorio Emanuele was not immediately ascertained. Officials described it as merely a ceremonial call.

Von Ribbentrop was received at the Vatican with full honors accorded foreign ministers. Greeted by high papal dignitaries, he and seven members of his staff were taken from the German embassy to the Holy See in papal automobiles.

BOWS THREE TIMES

The German foreign minister was presented to the Pontiff by Diego Von Bergen, German ambassor to the Vatican.

Von Ribbentrop, after his talks with the Pope and the King, had his second conference with Premier Mussolini in two days.

Before calling at Il Duce's Palazzo Venezia office, von Ribbentrop talked for half an hour with Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano.

The Vatican ceremony spared Von Ribbentrop the question of deciding whether to kneel before the Pope. In the case of statesmen, the Pontiff extends his hand in a manner to indicate that obeisance is not expected.

Von Ribbentrop was said to have bowed three times.

He talked with the Pope for an hour in German, which the Pontiff speaks fluently.

Von Ribbentrop also paid the customary call of visiting diplomats to Luigi Cardinal Maglione, papal secretary of state. In all, the German's visit to the Vatican lasted two hours and 15 minutes.

DUCE TALK SECRET

Since nothing was known of the nature of Von Ribbentrop's talk with Mussolini yesterday, foreign reports that they concerned themselves with a guarantee of Finland's frontiers if Helsinki accepted Russian peace terms lacked confirmation.

But authoritative Fascists said that if a proposal for the joint guarantee were made, it was out of the question for Italy to become a guarantor because of geographical difficulties.

Von Ribbentrop and the Pope were believed to have discussed reports of seizures of church property, closings of many churches and alleged mistreatment of clerics and lay Catholics in German-occupied territories.

The only other strong indication as a result of Von Ribbentrop's first meeting with Premier Mussolini yesterday was that the Fascist government intends to remain nonbelligerent, at least until there is some upset in Europe's military stalemate.

German and Vatican circles both were mute on the subects Hitler's envoy discussed with Pope Pius.

The foreign minister talked with King Vittorio Emanuele for a half-hour at Quirinal palace before leaving at 9:40 a. m. (3:40 a. m., E.S.T.) for the Vatican city. Political circles had not expected the diplomat to visit the king.

Liberal credence was given in foreign circles to rumors that Hitler seeks revision of the German concordat with the Vatican.

Japs Open Young Trial in Secret

TOKYO, March 11 (INS)—The trial of James R. Young, International News Service Tokyo correspondent, on charges of violating the Japanese military code in news dispatches sent after a tour of China, began in secret today.

The proceedings were adjourned until Friday after a five-hour session.

The public was admitted only during the first seven minutes of the trial, after which all spectators were excluded.

Young's wife was permitted to remain, however, as were William T. Turner, second secretary of the United States embassy, and Russell Durgin, secretary of the Tokyo Y. M. C. A., a close friend of the defendant.

He was represented by two of the best lawyers in Japan.

HELSINKI STIFFENS AT RED DEMANDS

By PETER DE HEMMER GUDME
International News Service Special Correspondent

HELSINKI, March 11—Finnish senitment against acceptance of Russia's peace proposals hardened today as informed quarters insisted this country would continue to fight rather than give up her independence.

(In London it was revealed officially that the British government refused to transmit the Russian peace proposals to Finland on grounds that they were too "onerous.")

One authoritative source said:

"If Russia makes demands exceeding her previous terms last autumn, there will be no peace.

"Finland cannot give up her independence.

"Six hundred foreign warplanes are now fighting for Finland and this is proof that help can be obtained."

REPORTED ON WAY HOME

General aKrl Wallden is participating in the Moscow negotiations as representative of Field Marshal Karl Mannerheim, Finnish commander-in-chief.

High quarters in Helsinki maintained utmost reticence regarding progress of the negotiations.

It was rumored, however, that the delegation headed by Premier Risto Ryti, having conferred with Soviet Premier-Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov this morning, now is en route to Helsinki to present the terms to the Finnish parliament.

In this connection Finnish authorities noted with interest an article in the Stockholm paper Folkets Dagblad claiming that the most important angle of the Moscow negotiations concerns an attempt to join Finland into a Russo-German "lebensraum" (living space) scheme.

Unconfirmed reports stated that the meeting between Molotov and the Finnish negotiations took place in the American embassy in Moscow.

REDS INTENSIFY ATTACKS

Official announcement of the peace negotiations was made amid suddenly intensified Russian land and air attacks in which several Finnish towns were bombed.

Finnish troops were said to have inflicted heavy casualties on the Russians particularly on the Karelian isthmus and it was understood that 1000 Russians fell dead before Finnish artillery and airplane attacks as they sought to extend the Finnish foothold on the western shore of Vupuri bay.

Russian planes attacked a number of Finnish towns and also machine gunned a train. Casualties and damage were reported to be considerable.

Nazis Ease War On Norse Ships

OSLO, March 11 (AP)—The newspaper Aftenposten said today it had learned on the highest authority Germany had agreed to a policy which will lessen the war danger to Scandinavian shipping.

The first step in this was the reported agreement by Germany not to attack Norwegian ships which do not sail in convoys (presumably to British ports) or which journey between neutral ports.

It was regarded probable here that the same treatment would be accorded Swedish, Danish and possibly all neutral shipping.

Under the new agreement, the Aftenposten said, ships bringing coal to Norway are in no case to be attacked, and the cargoes of all ships not moving under convoy, if they "comply with international law," will be checked before any action is taken against them.

Bay State Opens Dentists' Centennial

The Massachusetts Dental Society today began a lengthy celebration of the 100th anniversary of the American dental profession.

Members of the society will hold the centennial dinner in Boston tonight, with the national celebration reaching its climax at Baltimore on March 18, 19 and 20. It was in Baltimore that the first dental school was founded in 1840.

Head Cold Confines F. D. to White House

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP)—President Roosevelt was confined to his White House quarters today by a head cold contracted over night. The President's physician, Rear Admiral Ross T. McIntire, said it was a nasal cold and that he had asked Mr. Roosevelt not to come to the executive offices today. The President will receive all his callers at the White House proper.

Raids Increase On West Front

PARIS, March 11 (INS)—Increased patrol activity on the western front and one clash in the Vosges mountain area in which a German group was repulsed while trying to approach the French lines were reported in dispatches today.

The German patrol suffered "some losses" before retreating to its lines, the reports stated.

Air forces on both sides were busy as the French flew over western Germany during the night of March 9-10 and German planes patrolled over northern, eastern and southeastern France.

Six French pursuit planes battled six German planes over the lines without results save that one French pilot was wounded but managed to return safely to his base.

Bride, 14, Goes Back To School

VINELAND, N. J., March 11 (AP) —Fourteen-year-old Marguerite Beu and 17-year-old Jack D'Orio, who eloped to Accomac, Va., Friday were back in their homes today after police put a halt to their brief honeymoon.

Marguerite, a petite youngster looking no more than her 14 years, agreed it was "all a mistake" and was prepared to return to high school, where she is a freshman.

Her husband was free in $500 bail on a charge of seduction preferred by Marguerite's father, Rudolph, who said he would consider dropping the complaint if an annulment was effected.

Marguerite's sister, Evelyn, eloped when she was 14, in 1938, with Joseph Spinelli, 23. Parental objection to their marriage were withdrawn when it was learned Evelyn was to become a mother.

The Beus set police on the trail of Marguerite and D'Orio after being informed of the marriage by telegram Saturday night. State Police took them off a bus bound for Akron, O., at Gettysburg, Pa.

Holdup? No, Just Friendly Reunion

FALL RIVER, March 11 — A friendly greeting, if a bit too boisterious, can cause a lot of trouble. So police found out when they raced to Court st. to halt a holdup, only to discover that a taxi driver was only being greeted affectionately by an old friend.

Police were called, according to the report, by Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Rogers of Court st., who thought the cab driver's friend was pulling a stick-up when he hollered out, "Hello, you old stick-in-the mud."

Gun Girl Gets Job in Hospital

ployed or reveal the name the girl is using.

She is understood to have permission to change the color of her hair, if she pleases, or take what ever other steps may seem advisable to keep her past from becoming known to her present associates.

Attractive, intelligent young Mrs. Butt won her "gun girl" appellation when she was arrested in Charlestown with a loaded revolver in her handbag.

She was on parole from Sherborn at that time, and was returned to the institution to serve out her sentence.

Originally committed on drunkenness and moral charges she had her sentence lengthened when she escaped from Sherborn and was subsequently recaptured.

More recently, she won a transfer to Salem jail on the plea she could "reform" there under less rigorous discipline.

GETS NEW CHANCE

Made a trusty and assigned to work in the jail laundry, she "walked out" of the Salem institution and was at large for several months until she was finally seized in Winthrop.

Salem jail authorities protested against taking her back there, so she was sent for a time to New Bedford jail.

The master there also requested to have her taken off his hands, with result that she was returned to Sherborn.

Her husband, a former resident of Somerville, is seeking a divorce. His petition was taken under advisement.

Now Ruby gets "another chance."

"I wish the girl all the luck in the world," Dr. Miriam Van Waters, superintendent of Sherborn, said. "She has been indentured to a hospital under prison supervision but further information must come from Commissioner Lyman."

The woman who brought her release did so in furthering her beliefs in "social experiments."

Hold Man Trapped By Gift to Bride

Trapped by the gift of a new sealskin coat to his bride of but a few days, William Harry Burke, 41, was arraigned today in federal court as nearly two score new complaints that he has passed bad checks were received at the federal building.

In addition to being charged in a secret indictment with passing worthless checks Burke, who has several aliases and a record allegedly dating back more than a quarter century, is charged with impersonating an employe of the Veterans' Bureau.

Burke was secretly indicted by the federal grand jury on March 1, just three days before he was married.

In their search for Burke, also known as Robert Burton and Robert McConnell, federal agents said they learned he had been in the company of a Somerville girl who possessed a new sealskin coat.

Checking the couple's movements, the G-men discovered Burke and the girl, the former Margaret Chadwick, were married in Boston last Monday.

Burke's arrest took place in Hancock st., Somerville, on the couple's return from a honeymoon in Rhode Island. After brief questioning, the F. B. I. officers took the alleged G-man impersonator to East Cambridge jail, to be held for his court appearance today.

A Somerville landlady furnished the tip which resulted in his arrest, when she complained to the federal authorities that a check given to her by an "investigator for the United States Veterans Bureau" had been returned marked "no account." The check was drawn on the National Shawmut Bank.

City Won't Enforce Ban on Girls' Shorts

YONKERS, N. Y., March 11 (INS)—With the hiking season just around the corner, Councilwoman Edith Welty says she does not favor the present city ordinance banning females in shorts within the Yonkers city limits. She expressed doubt that efforts will be made to enforce the ban this year.

For three years, during which one ordinance was invalidated by the court of appeals and a substitute law never enforced, Yonkers received nationwide notoriety for trying to regulate attire of women and girls who swarm into the city every week-end from New York

3D TERM MYSTERY DEWEY AID

By GEORGE ROTHWELL BROWN
Special to Boston Evening American

WASHINGTON, March 11—President Roosevelt's refusal to take the American people into his confidence, and inform them whether or not he intends to try to break the century-and-a-half old two-term tradition, curiously enough is having as much effect on Republican politics as on the situation in the Democratic party.

Among Republicans the effect has been to produce a noticeable increase in the prestige of Thomas E. Dewey.

Some even go so far as to say that the President's queer course is greatly enhancing the probability of Mr. Dewey's nomination as the Republican candidate for President.

It is argued that if, by the time the Philadelphia convention meets, Mr. Roosevelt's nomination by the Democrats seems inevitable, the Republicans will turn to Mr. Dewey as being the one man in their party most likely to carry the great pivotal state of New York against the President.

Some Democrats in Congress are saying that Mr. Roosevelt fears Mr. Dewey more than any other Republican prospect. On what authority is not stated.

If Mr. Dewey can attract the attention of farmers of the middle west with a sensible program, his availability will become even more apparent to party leaders and prospective delegates to the Philadelphia convention.

Add to this the fact that the Republican party may feel, by June 24, when the national convention assembles, that it will need a man to head the ticket best calculated to carry New York against the President, and the increased hopes of the Dewey supporters are understandable.

U. S. Economy Drive Collapses in Senate

WASHINGTON, March 11 (INS)—With the economy drive apparently wrecked, and the hatch "clean politics" bill headed for the shelf, an embattled Congress today faced issues which promised far-reaching repercussions in the 1940 presidential and congressional campaigns.

The Senate, weary after a full week of bitter conflict over the Hatch bill, prepared to set that explosive issue aside indefinitely and take up the billion-dollar farm appropriation measure and a resolution extending the reciprocal trade act for three years.

On the other side of the Capitol, the House Labor Committee set the stage for a showdown Wednesday on the bill of Chairman Smith (D.) of Virginia, of the NLRB investigating committee, which would substitute a purely judicial agency for the National Labor Relations Board.

FARM BILL UP

Under an agreement reached yesterday, the Senate will vote at 2 p. m. today on the Brown amendment to the Hatch bill. The Hatch proposal would ban political activity by state and local workers paid in whole or part by Federal funds. The Brown amendment would prohibit political activity or contributions by any persons who benefit from excise taxes, tariffs or government contracts.

Immediately after the vote on the Brown amendment, which, it is generally conceded, will be defeated because of its sweeping nature, the Senate is expected to begin consideration of the farm bill, which carries $922,864,668 in benefits and $100,000,000 in loans.

Action of the Senate appropriations committee, which boosted the farm bill $309,793,584 above the amount approved by the House, plunged the House economy bloc into deep gloom.

ECONOMY LEADERS HOPEFUL

The increase, including $212,000,000 for parity payments, is about equal to the amount slashed from earlier appropriation measures in a move to avert necessity of raising new taxes in a presidential election year.

Leaders of the economy forces saw little chance of Senate rejection of the increase, despite President Roosevelt's threat of a new $460,000,000 tax bill. They had hoped to sidestep the tax issue by persistent reduction of budget estimates.

Heads together ..miles apart

A LITTLE GIRL, playing house—a big girl, helping mother—and now a woman in her own home, her days filled with the endless "how to do's" that make up her three-part job of woman, wife, mother. It takes a long lifetime of experience to know the answers. So, daughter calls up mother. Over the telephone, heads together again . . . meals are planned, children's health is guarded, advice is given . . . the infinite details of better and better living are solved.

Though your mother's home is miles and miles away, she's always near, always ready. Easily as calling into the next room, the telephone brings you voice to voice with her. Such swift communication is so inexpensive. Out-of-town calls cost little by day and even less evenings after 7 and all day Sunday.

THREE TIMES AS MUCH TELEPHONE FOR YOUR MONEY

Two billion, nine hundred million dollars, or $2,900,000,000, any way you write it, it's a lot of money. That's how much the Bell System has invested in net telephone plant additions since 1920—enough to build more than seven Panama Canals and at least four Holland Vehicular Twin Tunnels—three times as much money invested in telephone plant now as in 1920. That makes telephone service more complete, convenient and swift—and lower in cost.

IF YOU'RE NOT YET IN THE CONTEST, THERE'S STILL TIME TO CATCH UP!

WHAT happiness would be yours with the winning of that great $10,000.00 First Prize! . . . The dreams you could make come true! The luxuries you could enjoy!

If you're not yet in the contest, there's still time to enter. The previous puzzles can be had without charge, if you act promptly. Mail the coupon in the lower right corner—but do it NOW!

On receipt of the coupon, we'll send you Puzzles Nos. 1-24. Your answers to those first 24 puzzles should be sent in promptly. And in the meantime, get started on today's Puzzle No. 25.

HERE'S THE IDEA OF THE GAME

Each puzzle represents a WORD. To find that word, you add and subtract the letters given and the letters in the names of the objects pictured. The word represented by the puzzle should fit exactly into the solution diagram that follows the equal sign, one letter to each square.

MAIL ANSWERS IN WEEKLY SERIES

Solutions should be mailed in weekly series of six—that is, the six puzzles appearing from Monday through Saturday of each week. This week's series (the 5th Series—Puzzles 25-30) should be sent in before Midnight, Saturday, March 23. Subsequent series should be sent in within the week following publication of the series in the Record and American.

HOW TO SOLVE A REBUS PUZZLE

Suppose you were asked to solve a puzzle like this: HORSE minus ROSE plus OT equals a 3-letter word. You would cross out the letters R, O, S, E from the word HORSE, leaving you H, to which you would add the letters OT, giving you the word HOT as your solution.

THE RULES

1—The Boston Record-American Rebus Game is open to all bona fide residents of the New England States, except employes of the Boston Record, the Boston American and the Sunday Advertiser, members of their families, any person acting as a proxy for another, and any person who has won $500 or more in any newspaper contest.

2—Beginning Monday, February 12th, 1940, a Rebus puzzle will be published each weekday in the Boston Record and the Boston American. Contestants may obtain their puzzles from either publication. The six puzzles published during each week will constitute a series. There will be fifteen weekly series. Answers for each week's series of puzzles should be brought or mailed to the Contest Editor, c/o The Boston Record-American Rebus Game. Answers for each week's series should be submitted within the week after that series appears in the Boston Record and the Boston American.

3—One hundred (100) prizes will be awarded by the Boston Record-American in accordance with the published schedule of prizes, to those 100 contestants who, by their solutions achieve the 100 highest scores. No contestant may win more than one prize. Neatness does not count. Do not decorate your answers.

4—In case two or more contestants are tied for a certain prize but what particular prize each contestant may be entitled to will be determined by submitting to each tied contestant a set of tie-breaking puzzles and if necessary a second, third or fourth set of tie-breaking puzzles. Prizes will be awarded on the basis of the highest scores achieved by contestants, in accordance with the instructions and scoring regulations governing the solution of such tie-breaking puzzles. At the discretion of the Boston Record and the Boston American, tied contestants may be required to work the tie-breaking puzzles without assistance, in the office of the Boston Record or the Boston American. In case of final ties, duplicate prizes will be awarded.

5—In order to qualify for a prize, contestants are required to accompany each weekly series of answers with a remittance of 10c in coin. An individual file will be set up for each qualified contestant and each weekly set of answers duly filed therein. After the contest closes, each individual file will be duly judged.

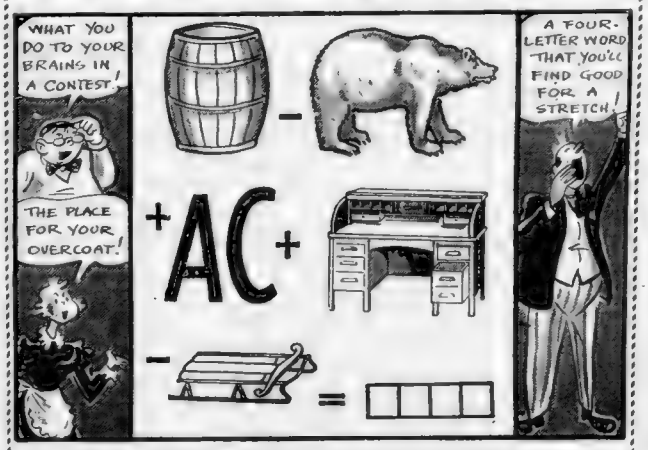
To those contestants who complete the 15 weekly series of puzzles and who in all other ways conform to the rules of the contest, the Boston Record-American will present a special series of fifteen original Rebus puzzles created by Harold Hart, foremost puzzle expert.

6—Any person, by entering this contest, agrees to abide by and accept as final the decision of the Boston Record and the Boston American on all matters affecting this contest, including among others the qualification of contestants, their disqualification at any time for any cause deemed necessary, the application of the rules, the judging of answers, the scoring of solutions, and the interpretation of such instructions (governing individual puzzles) as may be announced by the contest officials. By entering this contest, participants agree that their answers become the property of the Boston Record and the Boston American and will not be returned.

7—Entries that are not signed by name will not be considered eligible for prizes nor will any claims to the ownership of such entries be recognized. Entries which are illegible will not be considered. The Boston Record and the Boston American will not be responsible for entries or communications lost or unduly delayed either from the contestant to the Boston Record-American Contest Editor or from the Boston Record-American Contest Editor to the Contestant.

PUZZLE No. 25

WHAT WORD DOES THIS PUZZLE REPRESENT? Add and Subtract the Letters Given and the Letters in the Names of the Objects Pictured



Fill in your solution above, one letter to each square, in the solution diagram that follows the equal sign.

MY NAME IS _____

MY ADDRESS IS _____

CITY _____ STATE _____

Your answer to this puzzle, together with your solution to the five other Rebus Puzzles appearing from Mon., March 11 to Sat., March 16, inclusive, should be brought or mailed to the Rebus Editor, Boston Record American, before Midnight, Sat., March 23 together with 10c in coin, to return for remittance, contestants will receive a special set of puzzles at the close of the contest.

ENCLOSE TEN CENTS WITH EACH SERIES

The rules require that you remit 10c in coin with each weekly series of six solutions. These remittances entitle you to an amusing set of original Rebus Puzzles at the conclusion of the contest.

You don't have to decorate your submissions in any way, as neatness does not count.

Information Corner

Query: Can a word be correct even though it contains some letters that have a square in the solution diagram?

Reply: No. Your answer should fit, one letter to a square, in the solution diagram. If your answer is either longer or shorter, you can be sure it's wrong.

Query: Are the names of any of the objects in a Rebus puzzle spelled out? For example, would there be a letter between a [illegible] and the single word, "It," which would make the [illegible]?

Reply: The name of each illustrated object is a simple word. Compound words are never used. For every object pictured, try to find the one-word name which fits it. If a rocking chair appeared, the one-word name, ROCKER, would be the word to use in working out your solution.

Query: Am I [illegible] entering [illegible] contest [illegible] there [illegible] any other charge?

Reply: There will be no other charge.

AN INTERESTING exhibit at the 69th New England Spring Flower Show, opening today in Mechanics Building, is the vine-clad portal shown in the accompanying picture.

Nothing could be more appropriate. The great exposition is itself a DOOR, and the thousands that pass through it this week will step from cold, barren Winter into a wondrous fairyland of warmth and beauty.

AT THE GATEWAY
To Floral Paradise

The highlight is a spectacle entitled "New England Old and New."

It contains a placid mill pond, green hills ablaze with rhododendrons and azaleas, a splashing waterfall, an old mill complete with creaking power wheel, a dam all moss and ferns, and a merry little brook which serves to bind the old New England village above the pond with the New England of Today below.

This contemporary scene is a series of modern gardens where roses of all colors, asters, petunias, carnations, sweet peas, gay marigolds and proud zinnias bloom.

We could write for hours about the pleasure and inspiration that await those who spend an afternoon or evening at the Flower Show.

But our words would never do justice to the floral paradise the Massachusetts Horticultural Society has created.

Really to appreciate the Flower Show, New England must see it.

FLYING MACHINES are not always instruments of death and destruction, as they are in the embattled countries abroad. Flying machines can be winged angels of mercy.

When a woman became dangerously ill last week in one of Maine's deepest forests, a plane crossed blocked highways and ice-choked streams, reached the woman and carried her to a hospital 71 miles away.

There was a chance to save a human life and the plane's pilot took it, at the risk of his own life.

The airplane is primarily a medium for greater human happiness and prosperity. Men, not the machine, are to blame when this superb vehicle of transportation becomes a carrier of death.

WHEN YOUTH SPEAKS, the verdict is almost always against war. Schools have demonstrated this many times in recent months with polls and questionnaires.

It is hardly a surprise therefore to hear about students of a major North American university voting 2673 to eight against conscription activities.

Today's young men and women, particularly those in the United States, want a chance to live, to grow up, to work and to contribute something of value to civilization. They are more concerned with being living human beings in classrooms than corpses under tombstones.

If American youth had its way, those who would stand in the front-line trenches would be those safely-past-the-draft-age oldsters who start wars.

Approximately 55 per cent of the estimated world population of 2,125,520,000 is now at war, declared or undeclared.

U. S. YOUTH PREFERS CHAIRS IN CLASSROOMS
Students Do Not Want to Occupy Graves Under Tombstones

Countries engaged in hostilities are the British Empire, French Empire, Germany, Soviet Russia, Finland, Poland, China and the Japanese Empire—a total population of 1,382,874,000.

It would be worth while knowing how many of those ACTIVELY participating in the conflicts are graybeards.

Love's Requiem

FLOWERS so quickly fade away . . . brightening life a few brief hours . . . Swift passes too the summer day . . . its sunshine mingled with its showers . . . And life itself—how brief its spell! . . . Sweet friendships formed, and then—Farewell. And pleasure also swiftly flies . . . but love so slowly—slowly—dies.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt -:- -:- MY DAY

WASHINGTON, March 11—We had a very interesting evening last Thursday. A number of members of Congress and their wives came to see the picture called "The Magic Bullet." It is about the life of Dr. Ehrlich and is as thrilling as the life of Dr. Louis Pasteur. Everybody present not already familiar with the story of how this particular scientific discovery was made, was deeply interested.

I wish we all could achieve the scientific spirit which wants to reach the root of the trouble, rather than to worry along with superficial knowledge, content to ameliorate our ills instead of searching for the cure. It seems to me that the principle involved is applicable to so much that the world is facing today.

INSTEAD of accepting any straw at which we can grasp, and which seems temporarily to alleviate certain difficulties, the application of the scientific spirit, which insists on knowing the whole case, facing all the implications of a situation, and then experiments until the successful answer is found, is probably the attitude which all of us should have toward the world problems before us.

We need the kind of courage that Dr. Ehrlich and his assistants had. It did not allow them to give up when they expected success after a few experiments, but gave them the strength to face disappointments until "606" proved the answer to their riddle.

EDWARD G. ROBINSON AND RUTH GORDON
Their Picture, "The Magic Bullet," Pleases First Lady

ON FRIDAY I went to speak in the Town Hall series of lectures. This week Miss Elizabeth Hawes will be their lecturer and I think the audience will find her both entertaining and stimulating.

I had the pleasure last spring of talking to her about a project in which she was interested, and was fascinated by her personality even more than by the subject on which she was conversing.

She told me she runs a business because she feels she must do some regular work and she writes only as an avocation. Here she can give free rein to her imagination, which has made her successful in the art of dressing lovely ladies, and also in the art of producing new ideas on paper for our enjoyment.

I ATTENDED the Voteless District of Columbia League of Women Voters' annual luncheon and enjoyed very much a dramatic presentation which gave the League's conception of the problems of the District of Columbia. The scenes were cleverly done.

Human Side of News -:- By EDWIN C. HILL

ONE BY ONE the poetic verities fall before the ruthless advance of science.

The butterfly has been for us the symbol of all that is delicate and fastidious, as she sips the morning dew. And now comes a savant of the French Academy of Sciences to prove that the butterfly is a glutton, savagely devouring her food. She eats one-half her weight a day and even then isn't satisfied. So hereafter we will be careful about speaking of "butterfly appetites."

We have stored up much misinformation about insects. The ant is our paradigm of industry and it is only in recent times that we have discovered that this is a species in which the women do the work while the males spend most of their time loafing and gambling.

TAKING into account a long stretch of history, it is probable that our battle with the insects has cost us more life and treasure than our by no means negligible intra-mural strife. It is still a battle, and there is evidence that the insects, in the deep, instinctive sense of survival intelligence, have a better line on us than we have on them.

To illustrate, there is at hand an observation once made by Harlow Shapley, the famous astronomer. Before becoming an astronomer, Dr. Shapley was a biologist. He pictured a termite emerging from the skull of the last man. The termite was musing, "Alas, poor creature, he never understood this business of survival."

YOUNG SCIENTIST
With Rare Butterflies

Insects behave with extraordinary precision, in spite of the scrambled look of an ant-hill, and it is certain that if they have minds they have no such foolish ideas about us as we have uniformly had about them.

A Bechuana warrior never would go into battle without a charm made out of a beetle. It gave him staying power. The old books of India are full of insect prescriptions for whatever ailed you, whether the affliction was physical or spiritual.

Suppose you played the one-string lute and were getting pretty good at it, when you suddenly were afflicted with a stiffening of the fingers. All you needed to do was to go out in the fields and catch a pint or two of extra long-legged spiders.

You roasted the spiders and then massaged your fingers vigorously with the ashes. That made your fingers as limber as the spiders' legs and you played the lute like an angel. Homeopathic magic, the scientists call it. Our race history is full of it.

TODAY, in Arabia, beetles are used to catch runaway slaves. You draw a circle on the ground—it must be a perfect circle—and drive a tiny stake exactly in the center of it. Then you tether a beetle to the stake on a picket thread which is exactly the radius of the circle.

As the beetle walks around, the thread is coiled on the stake, drawing the beetle steadily inward. As this occurs, the runaway slave is steadily pulled back home. The beetle, incidentally, must be of the same sex as the slave.

WEISSMULLER JOINS 'FRISCO FAIR

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK, March 11—Johnny Weissmuller will work at the Frisco Fair's Aquacade, with the specialty acts which were featured at the N. Y. Aquacade last season . . . Harold Lloyd, who once was starred in the movie, "The Freshman," will produce the talkie version of that comedy. Ezra Stone will play The Freshman role . . . The Fairfield, Ct., firemen were unable to locate Roy Larsen the other night. They wanted to tell him that a fire had broken out in his home, but that his family was safe . . . Fritz Mandl, former husband of Hedy Lamarr, entertained the French Aviation Commission recently. He's working with them.

PET DEPT.: Madeleine Carroll, John Garfield and George Jessel were in a plane bound for Hollywood . . . Jessel had fortified himself with a dozen quick drinks. And when the plane was over Nashville he suddenly saw a white turtle with the map of the U. S. A. painted on its shell . . . He shook his head, stared at the turtle—but it didn't vanish . . . "I'll never touch another drop," he vowed to Miss Carroll — until a six-year-old girl came up the aisle and asked if anyone had seen her pet turtle. And so, 8000 feet in the air, three well-known stars got down on their knees to find a white turtle with a map of the U. S. A. painted on its shell.

BUSINESS DEPT.: Prince Bertil of Sweden, who is buying wares for his native country, dined this week at the Castleholm Restaurant with Bernt Balchen, who is buying munitions for Finland . . . A playful customer, who was tossing salted peanuts aimlessly, accidentally hit Balchen. He rushed up and apologized . . . "Oh, it's quite all right," Balchen replied. "If those peanuts could hurt, I'd buy a boat-load for immediate delivery."

MUSIC DEPT.: Kurt Weill, the composer, lives on a farm at Suffern, N. Y., and commutes to New York . . . "But aren't you afraid of thieves?" he was asked . . . "I've got a gun," Weill sighed, "but it's no use" . . . "And what do they steal from you?" Weill was asked . . . "They're always stealing," he replied, "my type of music"

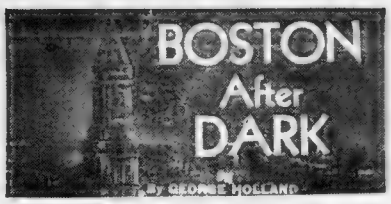
ART DEPT.: Norman Krasna, the screen-writer and ex-office-boy for The World and the Evening Graphic, startled some New York friends by telling them that he owns a painting by Sir Joshua Reynolds . . . "Why so surprised?" Krasna told them, "A Reynolds really doesn't cost very much. You can buy a Reynolds for only a little more than you'd pay for a Renoir."



MONDAY MUSINGS: "'Little Nelly Kelly' sold for $15,000 . . . 'Tobacco Road' offer of $250,000 plus a percentage of the gross refused" . . . Here are two quotations from the Hollywood story market which should be of interest to Boston . . . "Little Nelly Kelly" was the most successful musical comedy George M. Cohan ever brought to this city . . . In 1922, "Little Nellie Kelly" opened at the Tremont Theater in early summer and played through the heat and far into the Fall before moving to New York and duplicating its success there.

IT WAS A "TYPICAL GEORGE M. COHAN musical comedy," and in those days the brand meant "entertainment for the whole family" . . . Elizabeth Hines played "Nelly", and Charles King was the poor boy who won her from the young dude with the money . . . It was "formula" stuff, to be sure . . . But the public of that day loved it . . . "Tobacco Road", on the other hand, is an unpleasant study of the life and habits of a white trash tribe in the Georgia backwoods . . . It has been running nearly seven years in New York, and has played Boston three times . . . So I guess the public of this day loves that, too.

PART OF THE SHOW'S tremendous publicity crop was garnered when various city authorities tried banning the play in their communities . . . On their Boston showings, applying the truest yard-stick of all, the box-office receipts, "Little Nelly Kelly" far and away surpasses "Tobacco Road" . . . But the figures above are accurate . . . "Little Nelly Kelly", $15,000 . . . "Tobacco Road", $250,000-plus refused.

PERHAPS ALL THIS COMEDY centering around Chief Marshal Edward J. McCormack of the South Boston Evacuation Day parade has had sufficient play . . . There are two schools of thought, although the "reactionaries" seem to be outnumbered . . . Chief Marshal "Knocko" has a multitude of friends who are sure that he, a prodigious worker in all sorts of charitable causes, can do no wrong . . . "Knocko" has certainly enlivened the annual event beyond any previous attempts to focus the spotlight of publicity on the Peninsula District's annual celebration . . . Of course the spectacle of "Knocko" and his horse, "Jerry", forming a merger for parade purposes, seems a bit too hilarious to be in keeping with the underlying dignity of the affair.

THE SUBJECT OF "JERRY, the horse" having been injected into the general merriment, however, makes a fitting and fair offer of the one Mickey Redstone, the manager of the Mayfair, proposed to Chief Marshal "Knocko" today . . . The Mayfair offers to pay "Knocko" the sum of $100, to be donated to any charity he designates, if Marshal McCormack can ride one of the Mayfair's hobby horses across the floor of that establish-

JEKYLL-HYDE ROLE FOR DONAT

By Louella O Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, March 11—Robert Donat's lucky star must be working overtime. Not only did the English actor walk off with the 1939 "Oscar" for the best performance, but he is being handed "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde"—which might easily earn him next year's honors. This famous play has never been screened that it hasn't brought fame and acclaim to the star who plays the dual role. Fredric March jumped to the top salary brackets after he made it as a talkie, and John Barrymore, back in the silent days, was a sensation in the picture. The picture will be filmed in England appropriate since the setting is in London.

CHARLES BOYER, who is the answer to many maidens' prayers has put his name on a Paramount contract for "The Golden Door." Sometime ago I told you that Arthur Hornblow had bought this original story by Katherine Hartley which deals with the immigrant colony in Mexico where foreigners must wait to get their quota number before entering the United States. Charles should be wonderful in such a story.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD: Blanche Ring arrived in Hollywood yesterday and what she didn't know was that she and Charlie Winninger will be in the same picture. They were formerly wed; the Jean Parker-Captain Douglas Dawson romance is hotter than pepper; Cary Grant's interest in pretty Lucile Fairbanks will bear watching; George Brent hasn't missed a day calling Ann Sheridan from Honolulu; Eddie Sutherland hosted a party Saturday night, honoring the brides and grooms—Lee Russell and Bart Marshall and Diane Lewis and Bill Powell. The other guests were the Arthur Hornblows and the Ronald Colmans

DICKIE JONES is leaving on a personal appearance tour in connection with "Pinocchio," whose voice he was in the movie; the Ray Millands haven't found a name for their baby yet since they had no idea the stork would deliver a boy; Joan Davis, who took sick while nursing her baby, has narrowly missed pneumonia herself.

ZORINA knocked the 20th Century-Fox lot for a loop with her generous gifts when she finished "I Was An Adventuress." She gave her hairdresser a ruby ring and her wardrobe woman a ruby bracelet; Mickey Rooney surprised the natives by appearing on the M-G-M lot in shorts; Paulette Goddard is dickering for an airplane.

TWO-MINUTE STORY

IT was a sultry morning and barbers lolled about the shop. All they needed was a customer.

They sifted the latest murder mystery and pinned the crime on the wrong man, told each other what was wrong with the country, profanity peppering their speech.

The door opened and two huge men entered the shop. They towered over the barbers like giants. Brothers, sure enough. One with a striped tie — the other, dots.

The nearest barber bowed, beamed and dusted off the chair invitingly.

Stripes took off his coat, collar and climbed into the chair.

"Nice day," Tony beamed. No answer: Dots spoke. "My brother here is deaf and dumb. He wants a hair cut, shave, massage. The whole works. Put him over the jumps and I'll come back for him later."

Tony nodded. "Too bad! Leave it to me. I fix!"

AS TONY stooped for a fresh towel he said to the other barber—

"Big son of a gun, ain't he?

"Big! He's the Chrysler Buildin'."

"Don't you wish you was his build, Tony? You could push Mussolini in the face?"

"Boy!" Tony sighed, "What I wouldn't do."

"But he's a pug, from another barber.

"I wouldn't like to get a crack on the button from that guy. He's got muscle in his arms like 'mush' melons."

"Mean lookin' mug, ain't he? Got a dirty look. Wonder what he'd do if I trimmed off his ears!"

This amused the barbers no end.

"Bet he beats his wife and kicks the kids around. Looks like that kind of a punk, don't he?"

"Ugly moosh on him, all right!"

THE VICTIM in the chair, a hot towel over his face, was verbally mangled. His past, present and future laid bare.

At last it was over.

Tony stood on tip toe to hold his coat.

Stripes settled his hat at a rakish angle, took a fist full of change from his pocket and said, "How much?"

Tony's mouth fell open, the other barbers gaped and Stripes' laugh rattled the mugs as he went out.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

A WOMAN came to me today complaining of her motherhood. She likes her children, she says, but she feels they cramp her style. She wants a career. She wants power. She wants to feel the fire of success before she dies.

So many women feel that, nowadays. So many mothers. Strange, how people will delude themselves! How people will sell themselves short!

Actually, the most obscure little mother that ever lived holds more real power in her hands, has a greater chance to leave her brand on human history, than any conqueror. And instead she pouts.

RECENTLY I saw what motherhood can mean. You did not know, but while you were reading my advance copy I was down in the dark shadow, fighting Old Man Death, with only my own soul to tell me the way out.

And during that time what do you think helped me? Wealth? Power? No—None of these things.

Only one thing helped me—the face of a tired mother which hangs on my wall by day and night.

The face of the Mother of my Christ.

Now, let's get straight about this. I have had to fight for my life—the tough way—and I have few illusions But in that fight I have learned the value and blessing of two things—of COURAGE and of UNDERSTANDING.

And in that face on the wall, when I was most desperately ill, I saw the two things that would lead me back to life—Courage and Understanding; two things that challenged the fear in me—and dared and taunted—and led me back to life.

WHEN ALL medical science failed me . . . when love could no longer hold me here . . . when the dark wings closed about me . . . I clung to one thing only in my hope for life. I CLUNG TO A MOTHER.

THE MOTHER OF GOD.

And I whispered, "Give me back my life that I may use it as you did for those who are here even though my heart, as yours was, is broken."

And so I'm here today—well and laughing and hitting the job on all 16 cylinders. But even as I strut my oompah-oompah stuff . . . and wise-crack and razz you down . . . I know that I am using a strength that was given to me.

A strength that was given to me from the dream of motherhood, from the memory of a gentle face scarred by heartbreak, but smiling through its tears.

That is what motherhood can mean. That is what motherhood was meant to be.

Dear Sir—New York's gals have got something in that bill to permit females to marry at the age of 17 without consent of their parents. The Massachusetts law is 18 for girls as I found out—to my sorrow—last year. Why everybody knows that today's girl of 17 is better equipped to choose her mate, and go get him, than the woman of 30 two or three decades ago. ANGIE.

THE I. R. A.

Dear Editor—I wish some of the writers who enjoy the freedom of the Stars and Stripes would be a little milder in their writing in regard to the Irish Republican Army. If the American patriots who died for freedom could return, they wouldn't call the I. R. A. terrorists.

H. GREELEY.

FROM BELGIUM

Dear Sir—We, Americans, are unavoidably detained here in Belgium. We are trying to whistle away the blues with no mind food to sustain an otherwise cheerful morale. Will some of your readers mail us one or two discarded magazines? That would relieve enormously some of the nervous tension. As a gesture of reciprocity some good vessel will return to America with suitable Belgian souvenirs. Thank you for publishing this in your valuable newspaper the American.

Dear Editor—So "Nearing Forty" thinks this jitter-bug age, as she calls it, is producing a lot of moronic mates! That sounds like envy to me. I'll bet a Mack truck couldn't push her across a dance floor in a Blue Danube waltz.

ment . . . He will be allowed fifteen minutes to do it . . . To try it, ratner.

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY: It's Commodore Harry Browning (of the Medford Boat Club) now . . . The advertising chief of the M and P. theaters calls his flagship, "Skippy" . . . Much ado about a drawing its critics called a lottery had something to do with the decision of the Massachusetts Republican Club to abandon the customary Patriots' Day Eve Ball which, in the past, was conducted at the Garden for the benefit of children's summer camps . . . The date has been important in Republican circles, and it will not go unused this year . . . The Suffolk County Republican Club will stage the first of a Patriots' Day Eve series of balls at the Parker House . . . Alex Welch, president of the club, is the moving spirit of the club . . . It was formed a year ago this month with 15 members, and has an enrollment now of 850.

LOVELY LITTLE Marta Eggert "stole the show" at the pre-opening of "Higher and Higher" party at the Ritz . . . Tallulah Bankhead will be hostess to a party at the Cocoanut Grove's supper show tonight in honor of her little friend, Andre, the midget whose artistry is reported as exceeding a normal measure . . . Tallulah's show, "The Little Foxes," is enjoying smash-hit trade at the Colonial . . . The attraction was snow-bound for a week or more, but when travel became possible, Miss Bankhead's great appeal had a chance to exert itself.

ARTHUR LEVY, one of the important members of the late David Belasco's managerial staff, is in Boston "ahead" of Ethel Barrymore's play, "An International Incident" . . . Vincent Sheean wrote the play . . . He is expected to be here for the premiere . . . Vincent was called "Jimmy" when he worked in a Park Row newspaper in 1921 . . . He went to Europe when the paper he represented was debating whether to "fold" . . . The sheet, a picture paper, has a couple of million readers daily now . . . And Mr. Sheean has done alright, too . . . His tome, "Personal History," was a best seller, and Jimmy married a gal from the nobility.

3000 Shamrocks Going to Hospitals

More than 3000 pots of hardy shamrocks were readied today for Evacuation Day delivery to patients in hospitals throughout the city.

The plants were set out in December by Herman A. Shaw, general foreman of the city greenhouses at Franklin Park, and are reported full grown and ready for distribution. And what is the secret of growing shamrocks—"plenty of water and then more water," according to Foreman Shaw.

Boston's Night Club Stars Tops in Talent

By SAM BERENSON

Boston may not bear the reputation of being the country's night club capital, but the ability of the local spots to turn out entertainment that is so consistently high-grade is definitely sweeping the rays of publicity to this village of ours.

The fact is, of course, that the closing of so many an after-dark rendezvous in Manhattan and Chicago has made these entertainment centers mighty lean pickin's for salon talent . . . and where once New York and the Windy City were the focal points of those who make their living beneath a night-club's spotlight, Boston has now risen definitely to a challenging position. This situation naturally spells a better break for our own gadabouts . . . pleasure-seekers here are witnessing these nights the most clever and varied talent, the very prettiest in line gals that the White Way has seen in years . . . the thrones of the old favorites are being shaken; with younger, sleeker, fresher faces winning the public's acclaim . . . The trend to quieter, smoother rhythm may be only a parlor conversation to most of us, but to amusement bookies it's causing a very serious case of the willies . . . to which end many a band agency—top-heavy in swing material—has scouts frantically scouring the country in search of the more melodious combines . . . this coming phase in American music may be judged by the personnel of the present Artie Shaw crew—which includes eight violins, two violas, two cellos, an oboe, flute and French horn.

TOP NOTCH BILL

The suave Latin Quarter offers the premiere of another sparkling production . . . here's a top-notch bill and the Quarter has conjured up a program of starry names, thrilling talent, and pretty girls to give Rialto roamers one of the Hub's outstanding entertainment bills . . . Sunday evenings find stage stars in a general get-together with the patrons here . . . Jack Teagarden, with a band much unlike that which was recently featured at Southland, is now touring Dixie — and suffering with a $4500 headache brought on by contract trouble . . . New show tonight for the Brown Derby . . . a gay offering in the modern tempo wherein are featured the charming Leighton Sisters . . . a crack-a-jack show all around.

BILLY KELLY
Hotel Essex

That old master of the "One O'Clock Jump," Count Basie, lingers on at Southland for another week . . . Southland has won amazing success in its "Name-Band" policy and the current Basie engagement has found music lovers fairly jamming this torrid sepia spot . . . a "must" for the music-minded . . . Harold Lloyd's "Hobby Horses," which romped into the smart Mayfair last midweek, are making a decided hit with the patrons . . . this unique feature provides a mighty attractive lure to the stay-up set, abetting in one of the Mayfair's best shows of the season .

night were Tallulah Bankhead and Doris Dudley . . . both of the young ladies had no end of fun out of that basketball game which the chorines play so smartly . . . the Grove's new show this week features for the first time in any American nite-spot Andre & Co. . . . George Holland in his Saturday column refers to the Andre offering as the "greatest midget act in the whole wide world" . . . Case Brothers and Marie of stage and circus fame take top-billing at the Stanley Blinstrub's Village this week . . . others on the gala razzle-dazzle menu are Lodzia, Iquille and Marcelle . . . Ted Crowley and his lads for the swing motif.

A gay show scheduled to bow in tonight at the Hotel Essex, where in addition to the usual zip and clever talent an added zest is given on Monday nights by those marvelous pingpong exhibitionists . . . a good take-in . . . Emile Coulon, Jr., announces the appointment of Miss Mimi Gargan as hostess of the Cafe Vendome . . . the featured entertainment of the week centers about that smart songstress Miss Margolita, who has appeared in many a New York Club . . . Host Cappy has whipped together another pleasing bill for the after-dark minded . . . our posey to friend Cappy for the dependable shows that his hostelry has been offering . . . Jack Brown's Casa Manana gives bright lights to a score of name entertainers, making the current Casa show one for your appointment list . . . nice tempo, nice atmosphere and a slick take-in . . . Ribby's by the Allston depot once again comes up with a sure-fire floor revue which will be amply satisfying to the many patrons of this busy spot

PLANS GALA SHOW

Lawrence Hofbrau has another gala show planned for the week . . . the Hofbrau again features New York talent, and the wide variety of this week's show is a compelling reason for making this oasis a necessity for the week's calling. Which Cocoanut Grove dollies is about to say "Yes" to a New York biggie . . . but biggie . . . We don't know how far your memory carries you back but it's 15 years to the week since the Four Horsemen of Notre Dame were readying themselves for vaudeville . . . all right, if you're that good, let's see you name them . . So successful is the Art and Models Revue at the Bradford that this outstanding presentation is being held over for a second week . . .

What with ping pong matches, hobby horses and basketball games being currently featured on the town's entertainment menu, Izzy Ort's dreams of staging a chariot race at the Grill are becoming more pronounced than ever . . . the Grill is so tightly packed now that we doubt if Izzy could ever get a horse into it but biggie Ort isn't known as the miracle man for nothing, he'll have the patrons on horseback yet . . . The queen of the tassels, Sally Keith, stays on at the Crawford House, an announcement which will be greeted with loud huzzahs from one end of the White Way to the other . . . a striking personality, this tassel-rassler . . . Steuben's special banquet rooms going over in a big way

The current revue at the Old Fashioned Cafe, titled "Funnies of 1940," is one of the best that has played here in some time . . featured is Wally Brown, well-known burlesque comic . . . shows on Sunday . . . the Jones Brothers will continue on at the popular Savoy Cafe on upper Columbus ave. . . . these boys of rhythm meet the eat pleasantly and should do capacity business for the house . . . Ruby Foo seeks to surprise with a new dash . . . Fat fortune chicken we hereby recommend the Hi Hat . . . Kaye Reids and his boys hitting high notes at the Brunswick . . . Mae Jones Beau . . .

We take issue with Peck Kelly who brags over at his joint in the Southern Club in Houston . . . Peck, and his joint too, is fame recently through an article in a national mag and he has been besieged by many a bidding orchestra leader . . . But when they cry and plead Peck sadly explains "I ain't a good enough I got to practice lots yet. We hope New England engagements haven't jinxed the barrelhouser . . . Tragarden filed bankruptcy after his Boston stay . . . Benny Goodman was laid low in Worcester . . . Bunny Berigan broke up his band, and last week Eddie Sentz, ex-trio sax for Bob Chester was hit with an appendectomy, throwing the band out of kilter the day before an important audition

The little man with those big ideas, Billy Rose, will likely present an Aquacade at the San Francisco Fair . . . one modeled after the recent New York hit . . . Ice shows have proven successful that at least two night spots—one in Atlantic, the other in Philly—are currently giving them a tryout.

Ranny Weeks currently holding forth at the Century Room at Dallas' Hotel Adolphus . . . A major turnover in band style has been effected by Ben Bernie at the Hotel Taft . . . the old maestro has definitely gone in for the subdued style

ETHEL BARRYMORE in "An International Incident," War Correspondent Vincent Sheean's first play and comedy, comes to the Wilbur Theater for 10 days commencing Wednesday, March 20. It is a Guthrie McClintic production.

Beauties Crowd Gayety's Stage

Dorothy Lawrence's popularity with Broadway burlesque fanciers is no fad, they'll tell you. Local patrons of the Gayety Theater will have an opportunity to judge for themselves this week when they make the footlights acquaintance of the personable star of the current stage show, "Fads and Fancies."

Joan Carroll

Again featured in the show is Joan Carroll, blondely lovely dancer of last week's revue, who is being held over by popular demand. Others sharing the spotlight are: Arline Stewart, Jane Shaw, Mae Edwards and the 30 Gayety Girls.

'Joy Bombshell' at Howard

Top-ranking TNT personality of burlesque, Diana Logan, this week heads the "Swing and Sway" burlesquers as they parade their talent before Old Howard customers.

Diana Logan

Miss Logan is known far and wide as the "Bombshell of Joy" and her presence alone in the current show is sufficient to promote capacity business, but the management, with a generous gesture, has given her strong support in the persons of Gladys Clark, who comes to the Hub direct from California and Florida triumphs; Evelyn Brooks, Leonie Thurston and the fast-stepping Peggy St. Clair.

Dominating the comedy department are Fred Binder and Jack Rosen, assisted by John "(I'll Kill 'Em") Barry and Tiny Fuller. The Eno Troupe, Japanese acrobats; Charles Harris, accomplished straight-man; Denny Lyons, Constance Turner, Ford Mason and the 30 Swing-and-Swan Steppers are other importantly featured in the cast of 60.

Queen Elizabeth Film at Keith's

Complete newsreel story of the arrival in New York of England's new queen of the seas, the Queen Elizabeth, following her spectacular dash across the Atlantic, is now being shown on both the Keith Memorial and RKO Boston screens.

MAE WEST, W. C. FIELDS TERRIFIC IN KEITH'S LAUGH RIOT

Little Chickadee Tops in Comedy

By PEGGY DOYLE

Mae West and W. C. Fields in "My Little Chickadee" incongruous? We thought so, too, until we lied ourselves to Keith-Memorial, with quantities of other Doubting Thomases and Thomasinas, and observed these apparently oddly assorted stars en tandem.

From us to you, they'll slay you They're terrific. They're dynamite. And they're NOT for the kiddies or granma.

Whoever picked their names out of a hat was inspired. They are as right together as Scotch and soda, or, in these Lenten days, Bankhead and "The Little Foxes." In a word, they're an irresistible combination.

When West meets Fields, on that Greasy City-bound train, she in her floor-grazing alpaca that fits her like the skin on a peach, and he, the bibulous rascal, toffed out to look like the sheriff who has been killed by Indians on the way to his new assignment, it is all to the good of this Universal production.

She is just the little chickadee he's been looking for and he—well, he may not be so purty but Mae's big blue eyes have taken a gander at his carpet-bag and it's bulging with folding-money.

It isn't until after Donald Meek an old cardsharper in cleric's clothing, has bound them in matrimony that Mae, taking a second look, discovers the pseudo-sheriff's money is as phony as is the "preacher."

Meanwhile, all is decidedly not well in other departments. The train carrying these gay banditti is waylaid by Indians and Mae proves there's plenty in a name, shooting it out in the finest two-gun tradition.

"It's better'n a shootin' gallery," says Mae, as one redskin after another bites the dust.

You'll think this is the funniest sequence in the picture until the one when the bride, sneaking out to keep a tryst, leaves a goat in the nuptial couch the while the groom is in the shower.

Emerging in what would seem to him to be the romantic darkness, the sheriff, reaching out to pat his beauteous bride, says dubiously:

"You shouldn't have worn your fur coat to bed, Peach Pie—you won't feel the good o' it when you go out. Besides, you should have sent it to the cleaner."

And it doesn't stop there, it's one ridiculously ribald sequence after another that only the blandly blonde Mae and the one and only W. C. could get away with, the Hays office nevertheless and notwithstanding.

There are others in the cast—and good—but these two are the whole show and they'll make you die laughing.

The co-feature, "Honeymoon Deferred," teams Edmund Lowe and lovely Margaret Lindsay.

ANN SHERIDAN and John Garfield in "Castle on the Hudson," at the Paramount and Fenway Thursday.

Sheridan Film Here Thursday

Hollywood's oomph-gal, Ann Sheridan, who has promised to be guest of honor at the Press Photographers' Ass'n Ball at the Copley-Plaza Wednesday night, March 27, may be seen on the Paramount or Fenway screens the week starting Thursday.

She is co-starred with John Garfield, Burgess Meredith and Pat O'Brien in Warners' "Castle on the Hudson," described as a story of life and love outside the barriers of the law.

Garfield is cast as a cocky, arrogant, young gangster, the only chink in his armor being his love for Ann, beautiful underworld queen. O'Brien plays an idealistic prison warden. Meredith plays the part of an intellectual who has sunk to the lowest human depths.

Supporting players include Henry O'Neill, John Litel, Guinn Williams and Margot Stevenson.

"The Ghost Comes Home," the second feature, is a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer domestic comedy with Frank Morgan, Billie Burke, Ann Rutherford, John Shelton, Reginald Owen, Donald Meek and Nat Pendleton.

You Can Be Beautiful

Rosy Glow of Health Yours

By ARLINE GOULD

WE HAVE all had days . . . and we shall have them again . . . when it just seemed that we couldn't face ourselves in a mirror. Days when the strain of modern life was too much to bear, when we felt a hundred years old and knew we looked pretty close to it.

When for days you have been entertaining Cousin Susie from Dubuque and your vitality and purse are equally depleted . . . when things at the office have been so hectic that you curse the day that women ever were accepted in the business world . . . when the children act like fiends . . . That's when your face needs a tonic that really revives your whole being.

Such a miracle-worker is a grapefruit skin toner produced by an eminent beauty firm. Yes, really, it smells like grapefruit and has the same fresh, tangy feeling that your cold juice gives you in the morning.

This stimulant is better than an ordinary astringent, for it hasn't that too-tightening effect that many such liquids have. Instead, it gives you a rosy glow of health and vigor, and makes you feel that the world isn't so bad, and that maybe now you can take a gander into your mirror without pain.

Moreover, this toning lotion goes into the inner pores and removes acid which causes those discolorations of the skin. It cuts instantly any cleansing cream which has been left in the skin, and which may clog and enlarge the pores.

When your face has that tired feeling, just try this brief facial and see what a transformation it effects: Cleanse your skin thoroughly with cream, allowing it to stay on for two or three minutes before wiping it off with tissue.

Then apply this grapefruit skin tonic with a small pad of cotton that has been flattened with cold water. Use with a firm upward and outward motion over entire face and throat. Finally, remove the skin toner with fresh tissues. Your face will look and feel like a cool million.

Call Arline Gould at LIBerty 4000, weekdays except Saturdays, before five; or write her, enclosing a stamped and self-addressed envelope, at the Boston American.

STRING BEANS WITH MUSHROOMS

(Tested by Good Housekeeping Institute)

Use Institute-approved measuring cups and spoons. Measure level

INGREDIENTS

2 lbs. string beans
½ lb. fresh mushrooms
1 c. minced onion
1½ tsp. salt
½ c. water
3 tbsp. salad oil
½ tsp. granulated sugar
Speck pepper
½ c. top milk or cream

METHOD OF PREPARATION

Cut the string beans crosswise into 1" pieces and wash. Add mushrooms, which have been washed and sliced, onion, salt, water, salad oil and sugar. Cover and cook over low heat until tender—about 30 min. Add remaining ingredients, heat well, and serve. Serves 6. To serve 2 or 3, make half this recipe. One 4-oz. can mushrooms may be substituted for the fresh ones. In using, brown lightly in 2 tbsp. butter or margarine, add to cooked beans.

SERVE with broiled lamb chops, grapefruit salad and icebox cake for dinner.

LOVELY MARY MARTIN, whose heart belongs to Hollywood now, captivated Broadway and film fans with her beauty as well as with her voice . . . her face has that quality of eager youth which belies birthdays . . . the look which a new skin tonic imparts to a "tired" complexity.

Increase Job Opportunities

STUDY SIMPLE COURSE IN YOUR SPARE TIME

An office worker with some experience, but her job application goes into the waste basket because she doesn't know shorthand.

These days a girl is expected to pinch hit in many tasks. Even a receptionist or switchboard operator has a better chance if she can take dictation. And, of course, shorthand is the opening wedge for many a successful business career.

It may be for you, too! If you have a little spare time each day, you can learn shorthand at home. Pitman shorthand isn't hard when you understand the principles.

And you'll soon be ready for a job if you study the step-by-step lessons in our 40-page booklet, Pitman Shorthand Self-Taught. Shows how to write shorthand with professional accuracy and speed.

Send 15c in coins for our booklet, Pitman Shorthand Self-Taught, to Boston Evening American, Home Institute, 109 West 19th street, New York, N. Y. Write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

Laced Corsets Are Back

By ANNICE BRINK

FIVE YEARS AGO if anyone told us that women would ever again wear corsets we would have laughed and laughed like little Audrey. And no one can say we accepted them without a protest.

But Paris said corsets, and kept saying it, and now ladies are getting laced up the back again, even as in the nineties. But there is considerable difference in today's pinch-waist garments from those which tortured our grandmothers.

In the first place, they are intended mainly to emphasize a waistline, that already is small. Exercises to get your middle small come first, before you buy these new foundations. Moreover, the average woman, who has kept her figure down to decent proportions, will wear them only on special occasions, as with her new tiny-bodiced dinner dress.

Some of the new corsets are designed specifically for evening, to bind you into the Velasquez silhouette. Others which pinch in the waist without constriction, and round the hips a bit, can be worn comfortably all day, and they tell us they change the posture considerably for the better.

With the new long torso dresses which do not require a tiny waist, but rather a slim line from bust to hip, a smooth laced corset is a great help, although any good zippered girdle, with bones in the right places, will do if you just won't be laced. At any rate, the day of no girdle at all is definitely gone, we fear.

Formal Name

READER

You would give your formal name, Mrs. Paul Tidewater.

Love

Should Drop This Man

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am 24 years of age and divorced two years. I met a man twelve years older than I, who has three children. He told me he loves me, and I love him too. He said he was going to get a divorce from his wife and marry me. That was two years ago.

The probation officer called on him and told him his wife and children were stranded in the city, so he hurried there and found everything all right, so he came back. However, since then he has not changed toward me. I've told him to go back to his wife, but he said he loved me, also his children. And he keeps on coming to see me. Please advise me. Should I drop him or let him come to see me? I know he can afford a divorce if he really wants it.

J. C. H.

In your place I'd drop this gentleman so quickly that it would take him some time to realize what it was all about. His wife and children must be in a bad way for the probation officer to tell him they were stranded. And for him to tell you they were doing all right, probably meant that he gave them a dollar bill and some promises which he will fail to keep.

He tells you he loves his children, and that he loves you. He doesn't tell you he loves himself—the chief object of his affections. If you're not a glutton for trouble, give him the go-by.

Here's "Three on a Match," Newest Bolero Sash and Turban Ensemble

First you twist the becoming wrap-around turban to suit you best. The matching sash circles your tiny waist. Slip on the perky bolero and it's practically a new outfit—certainly a wonderful tide-me-over for your dark dresses till you're ready to blossom out in Easter finery. I'll bet you'll be counting on it next summer, too, over your cottons. The rayon fabric has a weave that resembles shantung that takes lovely shades of Copen Blue, Dusty Pink, Navy and White. I don't have to tell you AGAIN (Do I?) how enthused I am about these ever so practical turbans you whisk into shape yourself. You know boleros are smart for Spring and so is the idea of matching accessory colors—So this three piece ensemble is almost a complete fashion story. The three, sash, turban and bolero cost only $2 complete! See them in the Blouse Department in the Jordan Marsh Co. Street Floor, Main Store. Order by mail or phone HUBbard 2700 until 10 p. m. Dainty, New Lenten Dishes

By MARTHA LEE

LATELY we've discovered ways aplenty to lighten the Lenten problem. First thing we need to do is branch out and include all sorts of new foods in the main course dishes. We'll soon find that lots of fare we always looked on as side dishes and accompaniments can be enlarged and embellished to make mighty tasty main course eating.

Pattern 9335 may be ordered only in misses' and women's sizes 12, 14, 16 18, 20, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40. Size 16 requires 4¼ yards 35 inch.

To get this pattern send fifteen cents in coins to Boston Evening American, Pattern Department, 330 West 18th Street, New York, N. Y. Ten cents additional will bring you our newest Pattern Book.

For instance, green peppers stuffed with rice are a grand garnish around a roast—but they have main course possibilities, too, when we step up the flavor with a dash of chili sauce and half a cupful of nut meats. Try a platterful ths way soon:

GREEN PEPPERS STUFFED WITH RICE

6 medium sized green peppers
2 cups cooked rice, salted
2 tbsp. butter
¼ cup chopped celery
¼ cup chili sauce
½ cup chopped nut meats
¼ cup water

Cut green peppers in halves, lengthwise, then remove seeds and parboil 3 minutes. Combine rice, butter, celery, chili sauce, nut meats and water and mix thoroughly. Fill pepper cases with this mixture. Place in shallow baking pan, then pour water to ¼ inch in depth. Bake in a moderate oven (350 deg. F.) about 40 minutes, or until peppers are tender.

STUFFED TOMATOES

6 large, firm tomatoes
1 tbsp. butter
1 tbsp. chopped onion
¼ cup chopped meat
1 tbsp. chopped parsley
1 cup bread crumbs
1 tsp. salt
⅛ tsp. pepper
1 egg, beaten

Cut a small slice off the stem end of the tomatoes; and scoop out the inside. Fill them with stuffing made as follows; put butter in a saucepan; when hot add onion chopped fine. Let it color slightly; then add meat, parsley, bread crumbs, the pulp taken from the tomatoes, salt and pepper and egg. Cook over low heat until slightly thickened. Dust the inside of the tomatoes with salt and pepper, and fill them, letting the stuffing rise ½ inch above the tomato and dot with butter. Cut slicer of bread ½ inch thick into circles the size of the tomato; dip them quickly in water, and place in a baking pan. Place a tomato on each piece of bread, and bake in hot oven 15 minutes or until the stuffing is browned. Makes 6 servings

MEXICAN RICE

6 slices bacon
1 cup uncooked rice, washed and drained
1 small onion, finely chopped
1 clove garlic
1 medium (12 oz.) can tomato juice
1 small (10 oz.) can consomme
1 tsp. salt

Fry bacon until crisp. Remove from frying pan and break into small pieces. Then brown the rice slightly in the bacon fat, stirring constantly. Add onion, garlic, tomato juice, consomme and salt. Cover tightly and cook until rice is tender. Add the crisp bacon and serve hot.

Note: Rice may be browned in 1 tablespoons of bacon drippings, and 1 cup of chopped cooked leftover meat may be substituted for the 6 slices of bacon.

Smart Set Functions

By BETTY ALDEN

IF THERE'S any truth in the old adage about catching the bride's bouquet the Samuel Eliots will have another wedding to plan for in no time . . . Their debutante daughter, Nancy, was victor in the scramble of nine bridesmaids to catch the cluster of white lilacs which her sister Mary tossed from the stairway after her wedding reception Saturday . . .

Lucy Cochrane and Olivia Ames were runners up in the fray but Nancy evidently had the longest reach . . . Incidentally, the guests are still raving about the beauty of the bridesmaids' gowns, which were made with orchid pink taffeta tops and full skirts of misty gray marquisette . . . They carried big bunches of purple violets which blended with the orchid pink and their headdresses were shoulder length gray veils attached to simple coronets of gray ruching . . .

After the bride and groom, Mr. and Mrs. Grafton Fay, left on their honeymoon trip by air to Bermuda, and the last wedding guests had departed, Mrs. Eliot changed into a lovely pearl gray taffeta gown, and Mr. Eliot into his dinner suit, for a post wedding celebration at the Somerset's Balinese Room planned by their intimate friends, Mr. and Mrs. William De Ford Beal . . .

Mrs. Eliot wore pearls and an orchid corsage to enhance her gown and Mrs. Beal chose a tucked black chiffon with a pleated white ruching outlining the low square neck . . . Celebrating with them at a flower banked table for 20 were Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Osgood, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Burnham, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Curtis and several others . . .

Notes From a Society Editor's Cuff

EMILY SALTONSTALL, daughter of the Governor, is receiving best wishes today on her 20th birthday . . . while Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Morss (Sis Hovey) are celebrating the first anniversary of their marriage . . .

The Lawrence Fosters have returned to their Marlborough st. home after a month's sojourn in the West . . . The junior Bentley Warrens, who occupied the Foster house during their absence, have moved back to their home in Hingham, alternating with a few days now and then at the Beacon st. home of the senior Warrens . . . Mr. Warren, Jr., is a leading light in the Polish relief drive and therefore all wrapped up in plans for the Karnawal Wednesday evening at the Statler . . .

Enjoying a trip to California together are Mrs. J. Pennington Gardner of Brookline and Mrs. Bertram G. Waters of New York, formerly of Brookline . . .

VINCENT CLUB members, Dorothy Gannett and Jean Saltonstall, left to right, who reported bright and early this morning for try-outs for the club's annual musical show, are also doing their bit for charity by ushering at the Polish Karnewal Wednesday evening. They are daughters of Mrs. Paul Hamlin of Milton, and Mr. and Mrs. John Saltonstall of Boston.

Finns Topic At Lecture

With Finland playing such a prominent role in the news of today, the American Waldensian Society has chosen a very timely subject for a benefit lecture tomorrow evening. The program will consist of movies and a talk on "Helsinki" by Howard B. MacDonald and will be held at the Hotel Statler.

Many representative Bostonians who are members of the Society and those interested in keeping abreast of the news are giving this affair their whole hearted support.

Included among the patrons and patronesses are Mrs. William G. Lennox, Mr and Mrs. Robert Cabot, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Atherton, Mrs. Farrant P. King, Mrs. Arthur Hemenway, Mrs. George L. Cabot, Mrs. Henry F. Sears, Mr. Stuart Cabot, Mr. James Geddes, Jr., Mrs. J. W. Farley, Mrs. Arthur [illegible] Ladd and Mrs. Chandler Bolles.

Others planning to attend are Mrs. Stephen B. Luce, Mrs. Richard T. Lyman, Mrs. Charles J. Sheerin, Mrs. G. Peabody Gardner, Jr., Mrs. William G. Nickerson, Mrs. Ian Walton, Mrs. Henry G. Vaughan, Mrs. Harold Peabody, Mrs. Laurence Rantoul, Mrs. Bacon Post, Mrs. Lewis I. Prouty, Mrs. Alfred Taylor, Mrs. Henry G. Nazro, Mrs. John P. Potter, and Mrs. Henry H. Fay.

Mrs. Leverett Saltonstall, Mrs. Alfred B. Williams, Mrs. Addison B. Green, Mrs. Charles B. Gulick and Mrs. Edward H. Rugg will be on the receiving line.

Prominent Bostonians invited to attend include Mrs. Franklin Hobbs, former president of the club, Mrs. Charles A. Herter, Mrs. Alvan T. Fuller, Mrs. Endicott Saltonstall, Mrs. William S. Grant, Mrs. Frederick Pierson, Mrs. John E. Lewis, Mrs. Randolph Frothingham, Mrs. George W. Perkins.

Green Harbor Folk to Dance

The Green Harbor Junior Catholic Club will sponsor a dance on April 18 at the Hotel Continental, Cambridge.

John Gately of West Roxbury is chairman of the committee. He is being assisted by Mary Grahan, Eleanore Linnehan, Mary I. Sullivan and Dorothy Mulhern, all of Jamaica Plain; Katherine Kenney and Margaret Keefe of West Roxbury; Walter and Edward O'Brien and John Daly of Jamaica Plain, J. Warren Nagel and Irwin Kresser of West Roxbury; John Ross of Milton, Gerald Russell of Brighton and the club officers, Joseph Groden, president; Nena Graham, vice-president; Robert Mulhern, treasurer and Betty Stevenson, secretary.

Catholic Cast To Give Play

The Catholic Action Unit Dramatic Society Players are busy rehearsing for their annual St. Patrick's entertainment, which will be held this year Friday evening in Boston College High School auditorium, James st.

They will introduce a gay, new three-act Irish drama, "Otherwise Patricia," to their followers this year.

The cast includes Selma M. Allay, Virginia Corsara, Rita Fleming, Florence McEachern, Eugenia Mullin, Phyllis Sheridan, Maud A. Whitten, Gerald Byrnes, Robert Fee, Robert A. Keating, Roland T. Motel, Francis Ratto and Herbert Wilson.

THE VILLAINESS WINS

A Complete Short Story Daily on This Page

By ROBERTA YATES

GLORIA MARSHALL knew when she was beaten. Warren Starke refused to go to a house party in Carolina in order to stick to his desk at the paper works. But this was more than a refusal. It meant that Mary Bidwell was in the ascendant over Gloria.

Gloria could [illegible] fight if the enemy was merely Mary Bidwell. She knew Mary's tricks and was sure of herself. She knew that the only girl except herself in the case, Mary, a modern chaperon against a possible romance, personally chosen by Warren's father, was a good influence in the man's life.

Mary Bidwell was doing a whole lot of good influence on Warren. He'd sworn off everything from polo to highballs. He was keeping office hours at the factory he owned. He was lyric about the joys of work.

Gloria felt cross and disgruntled and bored without a playmate. She thought Warren's act silly. Her father and he had made plenty of money to permit a good time for their children, and Warren and Gloria had had the good time together until Mary Bidwell barged in with her reformation.

Gloria knew the plot from here on. Stenographer heroine gets rich boy and wedding ring. The wealthy, jilted villainess goes the works. Gloria pasted the drawing room her father's stuff flapping a gale of rage.

Be jolly if I was a villainess. I'd be a good one, by Jove!

She pulled herself viciously together to make a comeback which was shouting at the expense of her own good times—yes, of her heart. For having to watch Warren now he'd left the office to see Mary home hurt her.

She [illegible] to Marquette to Mary. She'd [illegible] to Mary. She'd [illegible] to Mary. She'd [illegible]

Cop Wins Court Praise In Tangle of Nations

An American student was operating a German car on an English license—and out of it all today Patrolman Gerald McCarthy of Cambridge police received a nice compliment in East Cambridge court.

"With such sharp eyes," said Judge Arthur P. Stone to Officer McCarthy, "you should be a member of some unit operating in the North sea on the lookout for submarines."

The international incident brought from William Brassert, 24, graduate student at Harvard, a plea of guilty to charges of operating an automobile without a license and operating an unregistered and uninsured car.

His American license, he explained, had lapsed in 1937, and he was operating his German-registered machine on an English driving license.

Brassert said that, although an American, he had a residence in England and had sent for his car, which was in England. The ship bringing the machine here was torpedoed and had to put back to England for repairs.

Another vessel brought the car to New York, and the student was just completing the drive from New York to Harvard when Officer McCarthy became curious about the German plates and stopped Brassert.

The case was postponed until March 19 for disposition.

PLAN AGED VET'S RITES

ELBRIDGE, N. Y., March 11 (INS)—Plans for a military funeral were being made today for Alfred E. Stacey, Sr., 94, commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic in 1934, who died yesterday of pneumonia.

MONEY TO LOAN MONEY TO LOAN MONEY TO LOAN

TO THE MAN WHO NEEDS
A $100 LOAN
HOW YOU CAN BORROW $100 IF YOU CAN PAY BACK $6.41 A MONTH

You can get cash simply and promptly at Household Finance, if you can repay your loan in monthly installments. You borrow without endorsers or guarantors and repay on the installment plan which fits your own needs and your own income.

Choose your own payment plan

Suppose you need $100 and can conveniently repay $9.75 a month. Your installments will repay a $100 loan in full in twelve months. Or, if you wish smaller payments, as little as $6.41 a month for twenty months will also repay a $100 loan

See the sample loans and payment plans in the table. (Loans are also made in other amounts and for other periods.) Note that you may make very small payments if you wish. See also that the sooner you repay, the less your loan costs. Charges on a $100 loan repaid in four monthly installments of $26.58 each, for instance, are only $6.32. (All payments shown in the table include the charges.

WE GUARANTEE the total amount figured by using this table to be the full amount you will pay, when payments are made on schedule. You will pay less if you pay your loan ahead of time since you pay charges only for the actual time you have the money. Payments are calculated at Household's rate of 2½% per month, which is less than the maximum permitted by the Small Loan Law.

R. E. Hendrickson, Pres. Gen'l Mgr.

What you do to borrow

All you do to get a Household Finance loan is acquaint us with your needs. No salary or wage assignment, no stocks or bonds required. (Loans are made on furniture, car or note.) No credit inquiries are made of friends or relatives. No need to ask friends or fellow-workers to sign the loan papers. You get your loan promptly and simply.

Study the loan and payment table. Then come in or telephone for full information without obligation.

AUSTEN LAKE

Miller Ends Salary Pout: Talks Turkey

BRADENTON, Fla., March 11.

Today when Eddie Miller, Bees' truant shortstop, arrives to talk money, the conversation will be brief. In his crisp, parakeet voice Bob Quinn will say, "What's matter, Eddie?" Eddie will say that he wants more salary sweetening, and how much. If it's not outrageous Quinn will reply, "O K," scriggle a figure into the printed forms, and direct "Sign here."

AUSTEN LAKE

But if Eddie begins to rant and rave about lickpenny magnates, the slavery system of baseball and magnitude of his own stardom—LOOK OUT! You won't have to read the Boston newspapers. Quinn's shrill cackle will carry that far by naked ear. Bob's that way!

Quinn has a system in dealing with dissatisfied ball players. He doesn't take offense if a hired man thinks, and says, he is worth more money. In many instances he has sugared the salary pot when athletes broach the subject tactfully. Yet few players have delicacy where money is concerned. Miller for example!

Until last Saturday Eddie had not written, wired or telephoned what he wanted. Last winter he visited Boston briefly, sat beside Quinn's sickbed, chatted about nothing until Bob said, "Well, let's get around to it. What do you want?"

Eddie nibbled his nails, squirmed in his chair, blushed and said, "I dunno! I don't know what I want." "Huh!" grunted Quinn, who clips his words, "If you don't, I don't." And there the matter has rested until today, with Eddie sullenly silent and Bob growing gradually sour.

Quinn Plays Fair But Hates Pressure

During the four years since Quinn assumed command the Bees have discovered three vital facts: (1) That he pays wages commensurate with the work; (2) he rarely deviates from his first contract figure and cannot be coerced, and (3) he is baseball's toughest tyke in a money fuss.

Until Miller, the last Bee holdouts' plaints from Buck Jordan in '37 and Walter Berger and Hal Lee in '36, were typical of the scandalized screams which players usually enclose with rejected contracts and which always raise the hackles on Quinn's spine. Before talking turkey Miller might study these cases.

Lee, if memory serves, led off with a chirographical sneer, "Where do you get off at, tossing me peanuts." And Jordan hollered by mail, "You gotta n'awful crust . . ." So the fight was on with the press filling the blow-by-blow account from the South.

In Lee's case, as in Miller's, Bob just severed postal relations until Hal, made curious by continued silence, wandered into training camp hotel and was about to sign the register when Bob barged up. And when Bob barges up, my friends, it is a sight to see.

So, in his rich, prose style Bob told Lee to do his first signing in the club's upstairs office and, until he had humbled himself with neck bent at the angle of penitence, not to taint the pure and unsullied atmosphere being breathed by contented players. Lee signed!

Bob Gives Veteran Break for Asking

Case No. 2 was different. At the boiling point of the argument Jordan got Quinn on the telephone. Only, as far as Bob was concerned, no phone was needed. He could have stuck his head out the window and been heard in Salisbury, N. C., where Jordan was holding the line. And shortly after that Bob traded Buck to Cincinnati, who traded him somewhere East of Suez.

Still Bob has his softer side in money matters. Last month a sunbitten Bee veteran oozed into the office and said, "I ain't got much longer to get it . . . I allus aimed at a certain figger as tops 'n I ain't never yet made it . . ." "What figure?" snapped Quinn. The veteran gulped and mentioned the sum. "All right," said Quinn, "your ambition is realized."

The Bees need Miller's brand of shortstopping as much as Eddie needs the income from baseball. The 23-year-old kid has no other means of support, no other job and no expectations. He received a raise even though he shivered around on a splintered leg half of last season. The club paid his salary, his medical bills and expenses. So what? So, until today just gobs of aching silence.

There was the slightly parallel case of Bill Urbanski, the shortstop whom Quinn sold to a minor league club in the spring of '37, where Bill faced a stiff cut in salary. But the minor league manager returned Bill with a mysterious knee ailment which he said had occurred before delivery. Urbanski was damaged goods.

So Bill lived through the entire season as a lazy pensionary at the Bees' expense, drawing his old salary and mystifying the doctors with an invisible affliction which defied science. The nearest that a physician could come to a diagnosis was that Bill's pain originated in the region of his bankroll.

Quinn's system with holdouts is simple. He refuses to allow any unsigned players on the training premises. If they want to haggle, the time to haggle is before training starts and after that by mail.

But Miller, oddly enough, hasn't haggled. He just parked himself a few hundred miles from camp, didn't answer any telephones, didn't write or even mail a picture postcard—until today. His is the curious case of a ball player who didn't know what he wanted, but whatever it was held out for it.

The next picture on the screen will be Eddie autographing a contract and Bob, grimly pickle-pussed, giving the lad a papa talk.

DOM DI MAGGIO INJURED AS SOX BEAT REDS, 13-10

By HERB FINNEGAN

SARASOTA, Fla., March 11—Dominic DiMaggio lay in bed today after a restless night, took a look at his bandaged right leg and philosophized: "Well, it's not broken. Anyway, it might have been worse."

The $75,000 Red Sox beauty faced the prospect of a week in bed with the possibility that he would be out of action for a fortnight. X-rays taken at St. Joseph's Hospital, Tampa, after the game with the Reds in which the Mercury-footed outfielder sprained the ligaments in his right ankle, had shown no fractures.

The Red Sox official family had breathed a sigh of relief, for this San Francisco youngster had proved he was a ball player of the first magnitude in his first appearance against a major league team for the Red Sox won the game 13-10, but that is incidental.

Where in the fourth inning everybody was proclaiming that the Sox had come up with the rookie find of the season, just four innings later it looked as if they had lost him for the season.

It happened this way:

The bases were full, Johnny Peacock was on third base, Dom on second and Stan Spence on first. The score was 8-7 in favor of the Reds. Ted Williams was at bat.

Ted smashed a single to right where Vince Di Maggio, Dom's brother was playing. Peacock was terribly slow starting for home. Dom was off at the crack of the bat. He was only a yard behind Peacock when he rounded third.

His run would have put the Sox ahead and he meant to score. He chased Peacock home. The ball arrived at home plate just as Peacock slid in. Baker muffed it in the mixup and Peacock was safe.

Dom started his slide—But let him tell it.

"I could see in a moment that if I took my full slide, I would have ripped Johnny from his hips to shoulders. I tried to throw out my right leg to use as a brake, but I couldn't stop in time. I could feel something give and I just couldn't get up.

The youngest of the DiMaggio brothers had looked like another Cobb against the Reds. He had singled off Paul Derringer in the third. He had tripled mightily off Bucky Walters in the fourth with two on. He had hit the ball hard on his other two trips to the plate.

He had sparkled afield. His stop of Mike McCormick's double was a marvel and he showed he could handle ground balls with the dexterity of a Bobby Doerr.

"Better than his brother his first year up," the onlookers had said. That was the truth.

If this ankle injury doesn't affect the kid, he'll make his mark as one of the greatest outfielders of all time. That's a promise.

DANGEROUS BUSINESS—Enos Slaughter, Cardinals' outfielder, skids across plate after homer in opening game of Grapefruit League at St. Pete. Cards beat Yanks, whose catcher, Bud Rosar, stands by, 6 to 3. Card coach signals in vain to come in standing up. It was on an unnecessary skid like this that Red Sox star rookie, Dom DiMaggio sustained bad leg injury yesterday, risking season's drydocking through overanxiety.

Frisch Lauds Pirates, Says Prospects Great

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., March 11 (AP)—Frankie Frisch, who had certain misgivings when he took over managership of the Pirates, is now spouting optimism over the prospects of his initial season with the revamped Pittsburgh National League club.

"I looked for trouble when training started," the one-time Fordham flash reflected today, as the Pirates started their third week of exacting workouts under his tutelage. "But what I found was just the opposite.

"Instead of being inclined to play indifferently or to break training rules, I want to tell you this is one of the finest groups I ever came in contact with. They all listen to advice and instructions and try to do everything told them."

Frisch said three recruits have been "outstanding," sizing them up like this: Frankie Gustine, "fast and aggressive" at second base; Floyd, Yount, outfielder, "far above the ordinary"; Ace Parker, "looks great at short."

8 N. E. Ring Champs Crowned Tonight In Garden Tourney

Eight amateur ring kings will be crowned in the Garden tonight when the New England A. A. U. boxing championships are staged before a large crowd.

Gene Driscoll, chairman of the boxing committee, has accepted the entries of 40 boxers who represent the cream of the amateur crop. These boxers will clash in the eight championship classes from flyweight to heavyweight.

There will be 32 bouts with the first contest getting under way at 7:30 p. m.

New England has enjoyed its most successful amateur boxing season, and tonight's tournament is expected to set a new high for competition.

KEN JASON
Heavy Title Threat

The show has been aptly named a "Championship of Champions" for included in the star-studded list of biffers are 1939 N. E. A. A. A. U. as wel' as New England All-America and Eastern All-America kings, State champions of Massachusetts, Rhode Island and New Hampshire, Golden Gloves titleholders and intercity champions.

Every one of the two score punch tossers battling tonight will be trying to win a title, thus placing themselves on the list for selection to compete in the national boxing championships, which are to be held at Boston Garden on April 8, 9 and 10, and also to catch the eyes of the selection committee of newspapermen at the ringside who will name the outstanding performer of the night for the "George V. Brown Trophy."

Never before in the history of these New England championships have all classes been so evenly matched as that of tonight, and the best fighting card seen in any Boston ring in months will be the result.

Listed for action are boys like Eddie DeAngelis, Revere, State champion; Tony Peppi, Boston, present New England king; Charlie Morris, Natick, State champion in 1938-'39 in the flyweight class. Frank Doyle, Roxbury, State champ; Andy Trozzi, Stoneham; Ray Fournier, Manchester, N. H., in the 118. Steve Kronis, South Boston, State king; William Daley, Roxbury, All-America champ; Harold Harris, Malden, in the 126. John Daley, Newton, State champion; Romeo Paris, Fitchburg; Ernest Forte, Providence, R. I., champion, in the 135. Carlo Intinarelli, Natick, State champion.

James Mulligan, Lowell; James Pettie, Woburn, and Albert Bozak, Central Falls, R. I. champion in the 147—Lou Vivolo, Boston, State champion; William Connolly, Roxbury; Joe Maruco, No. Adams and Larry Pacino, Roxbury, in the 160. Tommy Sullivan, South Boston, State champion; Lee Grimes, Boston; Leo Gauthier, Northbridge, in the 175. Ken Jason, Cohasset, State champion; Bill Weinburg, Chelsea; Joseph Kleiman, Lynn, and George Reed, Providence, in the heavyweight class.

BRUINS WAIT RANGER INVASION TO SETTLE N. H. L. LEADERSHIP

With every nook and corner sold, the sides of the Garden will literally bulge tomorrow night when the Bruins and Rangers open their home and home series to settle the National Hockey League leadership.

It's truly a story book windup, with these two bitter rivals coming into the final week for a pair of games and just one point separating them from leadership.

After shuttling back and forth, the Rangers took command last night by downing the tired Americans, 4 to 2, to sneak ahead by that single point.

As a result the issue settles down to this:

The Rangers have only two more games to play—one with the Bruins here tomorrow night and a return game in New York Thursday.

The Bruins have the two games with the Rangers and a windup with Les Canadiens at the Garden Sunday night.

With this as the situation, the Bruins must win one or tie both games with the Rangers.

If our B's can either win one or tie both they can then deadlock Les Canadiens and wind up on top.

From the Bruins' angle they figure it's tomorrow night or never. They are out to win this coming affair and know that if they can turn the trick the title is home and with it goes the choice of dates against the Rangers in the first leg of the Stanley Cup series.

The eyes of the hockey world will be on these two games, for the experts are of the opinion that the team which shows best will be the outfit that wins the Stanley Cup.

Art Ross is certain that his Bruins will more than handle the Rangers and Lester Patrick has

RICE-MAKI DUEL TO TOP SEASON

NEW YORK, March 11 (AP)—It still takes races rather than build-ups to produce records.

That argument was proved ot the most doubting Thomases at the Garden Saturday night, when two brilliant competitions produced world records for 600 yards and two miles, while Chuck Fenske won an over-ballyhooed mile in his slowest Garden time of the year.

Jim Herbert cut three-tenths of a second off his own indoor 600 mark. In winning in 1:10.8 he had to come from third place in the last lap, and National Champion Charley Belcher and Manhattan College's John Quigley also must have beaten Herbert's old 1:11.1. Quigley was no more than four feet back in third place.

Greg Rice, the toy bulldog from South Bend, Ind., had to come from second place in the last 80 yards to take the two-mile in new record time of 8:56.2. In beating Wisconsin Walter Mehl and Indiana Tommy Deckard by 10 and 17 yards he hauled them both through the fastest two miles they'd ever run—8:58.2 and 8:58.8, first time either had broken nine minutes.

Rice now holds the board track records for two and three miles, and is a "natural" to meet Taisto Maki, outdoor record-holder at those distances, in the Finnish relief fund meet, March 30 to 31.

Two major indoor meets remain on the eastern program. Thursday night on the six-lap Dartmouth track Herbert will go after the antiquated 440-yard record of 49.6. Borican will try to improve on his Millrose three-quarters of 3:02.6, long John Woodruff will go after Borican's 800-meter and 880-yard marks, and N. Y. U.'s mile relay runners will fire at the 3:15.2 hung up at Hanover last year by Fordham.

All of them also are likely to be in the Finnish meet.

Eddie Miller Signs After Quinn Talk; Ready to Play Now

By BILL GRIMES

It's been many years since ball clubs have trained in Florida under such adverse weather conditions . . . With the exception of four days, it's rained and the wind has been blowing a gale velocity since we hit camp . . . And, when the thermometer registers in the 50's in the Sunshine State, it feels colder than when it's in the 20's at home.

The Bees field on 9th st. is made land . . . Years ago, there was a large pond extending from the present infield out across the airport which is located beyond the park . . . After a rain, the outfield is under water in many spots and the drainage, if any, is "native" . . .

With an army of youngsters under his wing, Casey Stengel and his assistants, George Kelly, Johnny Cooney, Jack and Eddie Onslow, Tommie Leach and Bob Coleman are part time nurse maids . . . They are always on the alert for some kid sitting around in the wind without a sweater on after getting a warm up.

Florida winds have ruined many baseball careers and apparently are more dangerous when a hot sun is beating down on the fields . . . That seems to be the time that the players become careless and come up with lame arms.

JOE FULL OF GAB

Joe Antolick is in a class by himself as a chatter-box while catching . . . He keeps up a running line of talk, most of which is directed at the batter . . . And, the boys don't like it . . . Although he's only been "out" one season and still has plenty to learn, Joe is not a mechanical receiver.

He looks over the stance of the batters and calls for pitches to spots which he feels are weaknesses . . . The boys get on Antolick for riding them but are smart enough to restrict their protests to conversation.

Antolick flattened "Goose" Goslin last season with one punch and apparently the boys have heard that he can take care of himself in any jam . . .

There is a limit to everything . . . So in all probability, this will be the last year that players will be allowed to "live out" during the spring training season . . . In order to cut down the overhead, when they bring their wives South, players hired apartments and the clubs gave them what it would cost to keep them at the hotel . . . No less than ten Bees are living out . . . And, according to Bob Quinn, that is far too many.

Lon Keeler and Dr. A. J. Reece, who are pretty good golfers from the Highland Country Club at Attleboro visited the Bees camp . . . They are vacationing at St. Pete, where they are awaiting the arrival of Mr. and Mrs. O. P. "Toot" Richardson, fellowtownsfolk . . .

SISTI'S DAD ON HAND

Sibby Sisti's father is here to get a look at his promising son . . . Sisti senior stands six one and weighs 230 . . . He played tackle one year for Cornell, entered the U. S. Navy at the outbreak of the World War and did not return to college . . .

George Metkovich, the kid first baseman, who was out with a fish's fin spike for four days last week, is bearing down to make up for the time he lost . . .

Al Javery, the lanky right hand pitcher from North Oxford, who was smacked on his pitching arm by a sliced drive off Buddy Hassett's bat, hasn't felt any ill effects from the blow . . . Traveling at bullet speed, the ball shot between Jack Onslow and Bob Coleman, who were hitting to the outfield, and picked off Javery, who was headed for the batting cage.

A few minutes later, while he was out in the infield waiting to take his turn on the mound, Al was "low bridged" by a line drive off Bob Loane's bat . . . And, by the time he was relieved on the hill top, Javary had developed a blood blister on his middle finger.

BULLETIN

BRADENTON, Fla., March 11—After a short conference with Bob Quinn, Eddie Miller signed and worked out this afternoon with the Bees. Miller has been playing all winter at Orlando and West Palm Beach and is ready to step into the regular line.

RYAN TRIES AGAIN

Don Ryan, the former Manhattan College pitcher, has been working out with the Bees . . . A sore arm forced him out of baseball least season . . . He tried out his arm at Palatka, where Babe Ruth is connected with a baseball school, and believes he'll be able to go . . .

A. S. Brown, Jr., and "The Rolls" are very much in evidence in this hamlet . . . Al Roberge, the former Keith Academy star, is rated as one of the best prospects in the Bees organization . . . He's a sturdily built kid and looks and acts like a real ball player . . . And he's another second baseman who can make those double plays . . . Mike Sandlock, from Greenwich, Ct., who came up from Bradford, which is in a Class D league, might be retained by Casey Stengel . . . Mike is hustling, is a fine receiver and packs a healthy punch with the bat . . . He looks like Bill Dickey at the bat.

Garibaldi Next On Angel's List

Maurice Tillet, big-headed boogy man of wrestling, who is better known as The Angel, returns to Boston Wednesday night in quest of his fifth straight victory here, when he clashes with Gino Garibaldi, big and sturdy Italian. The bout will headline Promoter Paul Bower's weekly tournament.

There is no question but that Garibaldi is the best grappler The Angel has yet been called upon to face. He is husky and strong and combines just enough villianousness with skill to be always dangerous. And to prove that he rates well near the top, he quelled Ernest Franz Hefner, the "bad man champion," this past week at the Arena.

The Angel has been having phenominal success, and in the short six weeks he has been in this country just 25 men have fallen into his bear hug and proven easy victims.

Sox Rookie Made Mark as Filmster

By HERB FINNEGAN

SARASOTA, Fla., March 10—There are plenty of boys at this Red Sox squad here who could pass for movie actors, notably Charlie Wagner, Emerson Dickman and Earl Johnson, but I never knew until today that there actually was a cinema player with the ranks.

There is, though, and he answers to the name of Harold Sieling. Harold is a Hollywood boy born and bred. He attended Hollywood High School and played football there under the famous Victor M. Choctaw Kelly.

Hal played every other sport there, too, but he was so proficient at football that he was given a scholarship at University of Southern California.

He played quarterback here his freshman year, and (you can check the record) he was named All-America freshman quarterback in the fall of '34 in a poll conducted by a national magazine.

But he was so proficient as a shortstop that older heads persuaded him to give up the sport in favor of baseball. They feared an injury might upset a glorious baseball career.

But anyway those movie actors are not very well grounded in football fundamentals, as you might surmise, and Hal was called on to double in leather for them.

He doubles for Tom Brown in the football scenes in "Annapolis Farewell," for Stuart Erwin in the "Pigskin Parade," for Lewis Hayward in the "Duke of West Point" and for the Ritz brothers in "Life Begins at College."

The pay was excellent, Hal says, and so he was able to finish his courses at U. S. C. without the help of his football scholarship.

He received his B. S. degree in education from U. S. C. in 1938 and last winter he received his secondary degree, the first step toward a Master's. He expects to get that next winter, for he is still attending classes when he is not doubling for those great big movie heroes.

Hal, you see, realizes that one's baseball life doesn't last forever, so he will be ready to teach and coach when his pro career is terminated. He has done a little high ball coaching at Hollywood already, helping Choctaw at the close of the baseball season.

Like most of those Coast Hal was picked up by Ernie Jo son, Red Sox scout.

Upon his graduation from U. S in '38 he was shipped to the farm at Scranton, Pa. The t was pretty well settled when he ported in May and had to take what was offered. He played some time at third and some time in the outfield.

Last season, starting from scratch, he stole the shortstop's job, and had an excellent season. He batted .290 and was such an all-round standout that Billy Evans recommended him for an early tryout here.

By JACK CONWAY

GENE DRISCOLL AND Tom Kanaly have five heavyweights entered in the New England amateur boxing championships that will be staged at the Garden tonight. The boxers are Kenneth Jason, Cohasset; Ralph Williams, Revere; William Weinburg, Chelsea; Joseph Kleiman, Lynn, and George Reed, Providence.

Each of these big fellows has displayed punching power, courage and some knowledge of boxing.

Weinburg made a good showing in the All-America New England finals, and will have plenty of backing to win in his class tonight.

Harry Kelley believes Tommy Sullivan of South Boston should take the honors in the 175 pound division. Sullivan has been trained by Kelley for the past year, and has shown vast improvement in his boxing style and hitting.

Leo Gauthier of Northbridge, John Kazcavich of Norwood, John Grimes of this city and Abel Sonsalves of Rhode Island will try to upset Sullivan's plans.

I have heard much favorable talk about Romeo Paris of Fitchburg who will compete in the 135-pound division. Paris is a top boxer, and punches very sharply. He will have as rivals John Daley of Newton, Theodore Tuggle of Roxbury, Frank Sidoti of South Boston and Ernest Forte of Providence.

Harold Harris of Malden is a favorite to win in the 126-pound division. Bill Daley of Roxbury, winner in the Eastern final of the All-America tournament and a participant in the grand nationals at San Francisco, will be Harris' chief rival tonight. Steve Kronis of South Boston, Mario Capobianco of Providence and Richard Shock of Hanover, N. H., will also battle in this division.

Peppi and Morris in 112-Pound Class

TONY PEPPI OF this city and Charley Morris of Natick are expected to meet in the final of the 112-pound division. It is possible, though, that Eddie DeAngelis of Revere, Joseph Castro of this city or Tony Bentoo of Providence may upset things.

Peppi is the only defending champion, while Morris has won many high amateur honors during the past few years.

The 118-pound division will have Francis Doyle of Roxbury, Andy Trozzi of Stoneham, Ray Fournier of Manchester, N. H., and Charley Driscoll of Roxbury striving to win the title. These boys should produce their share of action.

The other classes also have their stars, and as a result the fans should witness the best amateur boxing show of the year.

Gene Driscoll's announcement that the first pair of boxers will be in the ring at 7:30 p. m. means that the 32-bout program will be completed by midnight.

The New England A. A. U. used excellent judgment in offering its championships at a popular price scale. It puts the show within the reach of the pocketbook of every fan.

Bruins Meet Greatest Hockey Test

THE BRUINS WILL meet their greatest hockey test when they clash with the Rangers before a sellout crowd at the Garden tomorrow night. The Bruins are today a bit subdued as a result of their 4 to 2 defeat by the New York Americans on Saturday night as it was the first time since December, 1938, that the Rossmen have lost a game to "Red" Dutton's outfit.

The Bruins are a young club and they may be expected to rally from the setback received at the hands of the Americans, and to enter the tussle with the Rangers with all of their spirit.

The Rangers have had the edge on the Bruins in previous games played this season, but the locals figure they will get their revenge tomorrow night. It should be a hard, bitter game, and it will have the attention of hockey fans everywhere.

Chmielewski and King at Worcester

WORCESTER CONTINUES to go big time in boxing. On Friday night at Mechanics Building, Worcester, Henry Chmielewski, New England middleweight champion, and Howell King, a Golden Glove champion from Detroit, will trade blows over the ten-round route.

In a recent bout in Worcester, King had Chmielewski on the floor twice in the second round. The Polish middleweight got up to knock King down in a later round, and to win the decision. It was one of the best bouts ever held in Worcester.

Chmielewski and King are both in excellent condition and each will strive for a knockout.

Chmielewski's title as New England middleweight champion will not be at stake Friday night. This fact is not bothering King, as he feels if he can win from the title holder that he will be in line for bouts with the leading middleweights in the East and that later he may be able to get a crack at Chmielewski's title.

Many Boston fans will journey to Worcester to see Chmielewski and King trade punches.

Zoberski Carries Off Ski Jump Honors

LAND O' LAKES, Wis., March 11 (AP)—Ted Zoberski, of Ironwood, Mich., jumping for the home club, won Class A in the second annual Gateway Club ski tournament. He leaped 90 and 87 feet despite a strong northwest wind and a temperature of 10 above zero.

Jim Running, of Eau Claire, Wis., captured Class B on superior form, while Robert Him, of Ironwood, and Leonard Maki, of Ishpeming, Mich., tied for first place on points in Class C.

TILDEN STILL KING OF NETMEN

By LAWTON CARVER

NEW YORK, March 11 (INS)—Partly bald and beginning to show the burden of his 47 wearisome years, Big Bill Tilden was back on the sports pages around here today and back in the conversation wherever the white-painted tennis set gathered.

Not that he has accomplished anything. All he did last night, as a matter of fact, was lose an exhibition to J. Donald Budge.

However, on a program that included Budge, Ellsworth Vines, Fred Perry, Bruce Barnes and Berkeley Bell, it was the gaunt, angular, cadaverous-looking old hangover from the so-called golden age of sports back in the '20s who captivated the fancy of the crowd.

If he could shed, say, just a decade it is doubtful that Budge could repeat the 7-5, 6-2 victory which he scored with the aid of youth best compared by citing that Budge was five years old when Tilden was winning his first national title 20 years ago.

And, at that, Tilden made some magnificent shots, but not enough of them and he couldn't muster the power to match Budge's blazing service, which flashed through the haze under the lights like a pistol ball. Nor could old Bill keep going fast for even two sets.

But nobody was disappointed. Those watching him for the first time got the emotional belt that goes with coming face to face with a legend and others who have seen him before just sat and marveled. The guy still has more color than any half dozen moderns.

Do YOU Brush

121,630 HAIRS

Each Morning?

NATURE provided your scalp with the structure necessary to grow 121,630 hairs (average). You kept this amount of hair until dandruff, scalp itch, or other local scalp ills made it difficult for your scalp to replace hair which was lost.

Your scalp needs sound help if it is to maintain its "quota." For twenty years Thomas has been helping others to get rid of dandruff, stop abnormal hair-fall, and promote natural hair growth. Thomas can help you, too, to retain your hair or stimulate hair growth. Call today for a free scalp examination.

TWO NEW RED SOX CATCHERS GIANTS

SARASOTA, Fla., March 11—Moe Berg, Ted Williams, Milton's Arthur Murphy and Longwood's Mr. Binford strolling leisurely down town while we're doing our daily stint . . . Ulysses Lupien and Frank Dasso, Scranton teamies, strolling back from town in lightweight slacks while talking of snow storm in the north.

Ball players don't go in swimming, despite the many beaches nearby. Tightens their muscles . . . Lefty Grove being pestered by autograph seekers in midst of workout "Get him later, son, advises tactful Broadway Charlie Wagner . . . Charlie still under weight but in rare good humor, telling of Ted Williams antics with hairbrush in front of mirror. Ted is hitting them all day long, with hairbrush, magazine, or bat . . .

Woody Rich barred from throwing hard until his injured ankle is better. "Dizzy Dean hurt his arm, while favoring his toe," remarks one of the coaches. Herb Pennock and Rich lolling on grass and having heart to heart talk. Herb is a great man with those young pitchers. How luckey the kids are to have a pitching master like Pennock to help them . . .

Williams prides himself on his ability as pitcher. So much so that he can't get anybody to warm up with him. He throws spitters, fork balls, knuckle balls.

When he and Tabor get together it's remarkable that they don't break each other's hands, or arms. Nice to be young and careless . . . Frank Dasso, Italian husky from Chicago, will all kinds of stuff but lacking finesse.

Great pitcher if he finds himself.

The two new catchers the Sox have in camp are giants. Deuse stands 6 4 and Lacy 6 2½. Quite a contrast from Desautels and Pencock. Lacy is counted on right now to be the first-string catcher. Despite his unorthdox batting grip, he hits a long ball, and seems to hit better when he just meets the ball than when he tries to kill it.

One peek at him and it's easy to believe that he won 12 letters at University of Richmond . . . He's a giant. Frank Shellenback, new coach obtained from the Browns, is a fine batting practice pitcher.

In fact, he pitched in the Coast League up to two years ago. He's the fellow, you probably recall, who was kept from major league stardom because he threw the forbidden spitball. He was a winning pitcher for 18 years on the Coast and looks capable of winning a few in the big time right now . . . Fellows like Shellenback and Moe Berg would have preferred the return of the spitball than the adoption of the "one foot loose" rule.

Nelson, Mangrum Tie in Golf Tilt

THOMASVILLE, Ga., March 11 (AP) — National Open Champion Byron Nelson of Toledo, O., and Lloyd Mangrum of Oak Park, Ill., tied with sub-par 68's to take the early lead through the opening 18 holes of the 54-hole $3000 Thomasville Open Golf Tournament.

Mangrum equalled the outgoing par of 36 and then negotiated the homecoming journey in 32, four under. Nelson, the winner here a year ago, put together nines of 34-34 for his round. Nelson missed a six-inch putt at the 14th hole that would have given him the lead alone.

Rangers Take Amerks, 4-2

NEW YORK, March 11 (INS)—With a relentless third period attack that produced a pair of tallies to break a 2 to 2 deadlock the New York Rangers took the league lead over the idle Boston Bruins by downing the New York Americans 4 to 2 in Madison Square Garden before 12,000 fans.

It was a splendid, wide-open game of hockey from first to last, the Amerks jumping into a quick lead in the first period on a spectacular goal by Charley Conacher, only to see the Rangers match that one and go one better to lead 2 to 1 at the end of the frame.

Chuck Conacher made another quick tally in the middle period to lock up the works and there things remained until Ranger steam overcame Amerk resistance in the final canto.

The victory of the Rangers gives emphasis to their two-game series this week with the Bruins, which starts in Boston Tuesday night and concludes here Thursday evening.

Dorothy Hoyt Win New Ski Honors

RUTLAND, Vt., March 11 (AP)—Dorothy Hoyt of the Schenectady Winters Sports Club, a former Olympic skiers, captured the United States Eastern amateur downhill, slalom and combined titles at Pico Peak over a field of approximately 30 contestants.

Miss Hoyt negotiated the downhill in 4:06.6 for a new women's record on the famed Sunset Schuss course. Stevia Korzun of the Otter Ski Club of Rutland was second in the combined, eight points ahead of Kathleen Harriman of the Sun Valley, S. C., who finished third.

Lexington Race On Patriots' Day

The second annual "Paul Revere Marathon," sponsored by the Lexington Lions' Club, will be staged in that town on Patriots' Day, as one of the morning sports events of the town's 19th of April celebration. The race was a three-mile road event last year, but this year it is planned to make it a five-mile road race, open to amateur runners. Last year Mike Prohodsky of Northeastern University was the victor, with Stan Tebbetts of Lexington, a college mate, second.

Hub, Newton Fives to Play In N. E. Classic

Cathedral and Our Lady's high of Newton, first and second place clubs in the Greater Boston Catholic League, today were named to compete in the 7th annual New England Catholic interscholastic basketball tournament.

The six other schools slated to open competition at the Arena Friday afternoon were Cathedral high of Springfield; St. Peter's high of Worcester; St. John's high of Worcester; "t. Joseph's Cathedral high of Manchester, N. H.; Coyle high of Taunton and De La Salle Academy of Newport, R. I.

Four sets of games will comprise the championship play-off. The tourney will open at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon when four of the quintets will swing into action. Semi-finals will be held Saturday afternoon with the final Saturday night.

Cathedral high of Boston and Our Lady's high of Newton will meet tonight to decide the title in the Catholic League. Regardless of the outcome, both fives will participate in the tournament.

Announce Date For Fifth Hearst Bowling Tourney

By PINFALL

The long waited bowling classic dates have been settled.

Once again the famed American-Record-Advertiser New England candlepin championships, the fifth annual to be exact, will hold sway at the Huntington Club from March 30 to April 13.

This year's title tourney promises to outdo all the past four, and in order to give due recognition to the new amateur championps, every winner will be given a beautiful diamond studded medal.

But it's no prizes alone that is going to result in hundreds from all over New England entering this classic—it's a chance for New England title competative bowling in amateur and open classes which has never before been available.

In the amateur division there will be singles and doubles for both men and women, together with mixed doubles and team bowling for women and for men.

CLASS FOR STUDENTS

There will be special class for college students and another for high school devotees of the candlepin sport.

For the more advanced bowlers there will be open classes to match the amateur groups.

Amateurs will pay a one dollar fee which will include their bowling costs for the three string total. The fee is for one person for each event. It is the same for the college group but the high school pupils will present just fifty cents with their entry blank.

In the open classes, the entry fee is larger but all the money received will be given back in the form of cash prizes. The fee for all the open divisions will be two dollars plus the cost of bowling except for the grand rollaway in the men's singles which will require a five dollar entry fee.

The entry blank accompanies this story, why not be the first to get one in? Mail yours today.

STAFFORD IN CHARGE

Jack Stafford, manager of the Huntington Club, the only club that has 66 alleys all on one floor, has everything in readiness. He has even installed a lunch counter for the big event.

Enter today—we'll see you March 30.

Olympics Off For Title Tilt

By SAM BROGNA

The Provincial Senior Hockey League play-off scene shifts to Canada tomorrow night as the Olympics and Lachine Rapides cross sticks in the second game of their best two-of-three semi-final round.

Coach Hago Harrington's boys will attempt to make it two straight and a clean sweep over their Canadian rivals after having taken the opener at the Garden on the Sabbath, 3 to 2, before over 13,000 rooters.

In case the 'Pics should lose, the third and deciding game will be played at the Boston Arena Thursday night because the Garden is booked for the rest of the week.

In order for all the players to make the trip, three special parties had to be arranged. The first, group left on the 12:30 train to Montreal at noon. The second batch takes off tonight on the 8:45 train and, the remaining group, will go by plane tomorrow afternoon.

Going by air are Dave Walsh, Junie Allen, Ted Frazier, Tom Moon, Bud Foster and Paul Guibord. They will also return by plane immediately following the game.

The noon's trainload took in Ty Anderson, Art Smith, Ernie Garron, Johnnie Fitzgerald, Junie Stubbs, Bob Jeremiah, Bill Splaine, Cliff Thompson, Jim Feeley, Al Carvelli, Bill Linsky, trainer, Eddie Arronson, assistant trainer, and Manager Howie McHugh.

Coach Hago Harrington, Jack Harris and Referee Bill Cleary, leave tonight.

HELEN HALLEY GUSSIE SCHABEL DOROTHY GADDIS

AIM AT THRONES—Helen Hally of Charlestown, Gussie Schnabel of Roslindale and Doroth Gaddis of Dorchester tune up at Huntington Alleys for the ming Boston American-Daily Record bowling tournament. Dels of annual bowling classic are announced in these pages fthe first time today.

FENSKE SEEKING LAW OFFICE BERTH

By The Associated Press

Is it telling tales out of hool to pass along reports that Harry Stuhldreher is ready to leave Wisconsin? . . . Jack Doyle, Broadway bettingommissioner, will send the Reds out favorites over the Cubs.

Chuck Fenske, the new mile king, wants a job in a New York law office, which should be a lead pipe cinch to arrange . . . Bad news: Jack Miley wired his paper (the N. Y. Post) the Giants are the worst-looking bunch of ball players he has seen in Florida . . .

Northwestern U's tennis stock soared when Seymour Greenberg, National public parks champ, reported for rehearsals.

Dick Hyland of the Los Angeles Times has been doing a little gum shoe work . . . He thinks the reason Clipper Smith changed his mind about going to Loyola (Los Angeles) is that they promised him two dozen junior college players would be on deck in February, but that only one showed up—a 165-pound end.

PAYCHEK PICKS CAMP

The betting now is the Florida coaching job will stay right in the family . . . Johnny Paychek has decided on Pompton Lakes as his training camp for the Louis bout . . . Cecil Travis of the Senators set some sort of a record when he received his diploma from an Atlanta baseball school in exactly two days.

Both Bud Ward, the National amateur champ, and Jim Ferris, Australia's open and amateur king, will play in the North and South Open at Pinehurst next week . . . Esther Williams, the good-looking Los Angeles swimmer, has taken a movie test and it turned out o. k.

Connie Mack is predicting a first division finish for the A's and he isn't just talking for the news reels . . . Coach Dean Cromwell teaches his Southern California track stars to run pigeontoed, theory being a runner gets more drive out of all five toes than just the big one . . .

SONJA HIT JACK-POT

Sonja Henie's ten-week skating tour netted $250,000 as her end . . . Whizzer White, the football star, will sit on the Colorado U. bench during the cage tourney in the Garden this week . . . Chris Dundee, one of the busiest fight managers in the business, has five boys going tonight — Nick Camarata in New Orleans; Jimmy Webb in Pittsburgh; Frankie Cavana in Lancaster, Pa.; Phil Furr in Washington and Tony Cisco in Philly.

For every hour Carl Snavely spends coaching his Cornell football players, he spends six hours coaching the coaches.

So the Tigers are using dead balls in training . . . We had an idea they'd be eight balls.

Michigan to Have Minor League Circuit

LANSING, Mich., March 11 (AP)—For the first time since 1926, Michigan will have organized minor league baseball play this year.

Representatives of proposed clubs in six cities—St. Joseph, Muskegon, Grand Rapids, Lansing, Flint and Saginaw—organized the Michigan State League here formally today and planned in detail for the start of Class C League play May 15.

Bruins Primed For Important Rangers' Series

just the opposite view on the matter.

According to Ross, the Bruins just couldn't get rolling against the Rangers and dropped four straight games after their initial meeting which wound up in a deadlock.

In the last meeting between these bitter rivals, though, the Bruins poured it on to the tune of 6 to 2 to give them the necessary confidence for the coming series.

RANGER OFF COLOR

Patrick characterizes this 6 to 2 loss to a general letdown after the Rangers had gone 19 games undefeated to set a new league record.

The Silver thatched Rangers' master mind now points out that his club is back in stride, well rested and at full strength.

The Bruins too, will be at full strength although it was thought for a while that Captain Dit Clapper would be lost. Dit was checked into the boards by Busher Jackson Saturday night and had the zygoma bone in his right cheek fractured. A little thing like a depressed fracture, though, will never keep Clapper out of a lineup.

Mel Hill who has been sidelined for the last two games with an aggravation of an old groin injury has responded nicely to treatment and he will step back into the Cowley line in place of Flash Hollett who will again be held in general reserve.

Many feel that the absence of Hill was the reason for the Bruins loss to the Americans last Saturday night but that was far from the case. The story on that game was that a gentleman named Earl Robertson put on an exhibition in the nets for the Old Men of New York that was one of the finest ever witnessed at the Boston Garden.

There was no letdown on the part of the Bruins, it was just a question of their failing because of the presence of an inspired goalie.

But that game has been written into the books. It's the Rangers tomorrow night and that's all that really matters.

Comedian "Charlie Chase" Is Serious About His Hair

BOSTON, March 10 (JW)—Charlie Chase, world famous stage and screen star now starring in "Worth a Million," at the Wilbur Theatre, is a funny man to millions but he is serious about his hair. Because he wants to be sure of retaining his excellent head of hair he does as so many other leaders in the entertainment and business worlds have—he consults and takes treatment from John E. Warner. Business today places a high premium on personal appearance, and if you are losing your hair you should, in your own best interests, find out if John E. Warner can help you. Statistics show that 85% of all baldness is due to local scalp conditions which can be checked and corrected if caught in time. But John E. Warner will not accept any case for treatment where the applicant is bald or the hair is too far gone. There is no charge for a private consultation and scalp examination. His offices are conveniently located at 515 Washington Street, near the corner of West Street (opposite R. H. White's). Suite 710-715. Phone Hub. 1705. Hours 10 A. M. to 8 P. M. daily—Saturdays to 6 P. M. Fees for treatment are moderate. There is a separate department for women.
